Aid Pours in; Baldwin Asks JFK for More

Emergency aid for storm-ravaged Contra Costa County was being given this week, and more was being sought as a massive clean-up campaign continued to clear debris brought by wind, flood and landslide last weekend.

Representative John Baldwin urged President John F. Kennedy to declare a federal disaster area to cover Solano, Alameda and Contra Costa Counties.

Aid the congressman requested included flood disaster loans to property owners and federal assistance to local government for repairing damaged roads and streets.

Baldwin described the storm as "torrential" and told the President that as much as 10 inches of rain struck "certain portions"—notably Orinda—of this area in two days. The congressman's office informed The Sun yesterday that a reply from the President is expected "at any moment."

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS reported that ten families had asked for and received rehabilitation aid, and estimated that some 50 homes in the central county area had been damaged.

Col. F. J. Clune, disaster chairman of the Greater Mt. Diablo chapter, explained that the aid was to provide a "pre-disaster" standard of living for stricken families.

Assistance includes food, clothing, repair and rebuilding of homes, essential furnishings and medical care.

Red Cross aid, estimated at $75,000 for the area, is an outright gift, not a loan, Clune said. Persons who wish to apply for aid are asked to call their local Red Cross chapter.

THE FEDERAL Small Business Administration announced that loans would be made available at 3 per cent interest to any business or homeowners who suffered property damage during the flood.

Persons who do not own their own homes are eligible for similar loans on any flood-damaged furnishings which they own, according to Regional Director Ed Turkington.

There is no minimum nor maximum damage requirement, Turkington told The Sun. Applications for the loans may be made at the SBA office set up this week in the Oakland City Hall.

THE INTERNAL REVENUE Service has announced property damage losses are also deductible from income taxes.

Joseph Cullen, San Francisco regional director, said claims must be supported by documents, which might include photographs and qualified appraisals.

IT ALL BEGAN in central county residents on Thursday when gales of 45 miles per hour slashed through the area. Rain brought a power failure here, lack of phone service there.

Throughout the county towering oaks lost branches or crashed to the ground. Roads were slick and hazardous. But there were roads.

By Friday morning over five inches of rain had fallen in some areas. Minor slides threatened highways and roads throughout the county, but traffic still flowed.

Grayson, Las Trampas, San Ramon, Murders, Tice and Walnut Creek began to rise as saturated soil took less and less rainfall. Drains began to clog with leaves, twigs, branches, stones and mud. Local football games and other events had been canceled.

Rain let up slightly Friday night, but then increased early Saturday morning. By 8 a.m. Saturday, Orinda-Moraga, hardest hit, had well over 10 inches of rain since Thursday.

THEN, ON SATURDAY, what had been a severe storm turned to tragedy and disaster.

Seven-year-old William G. McCarthy Jr. died, buried in a mud slide behind his parents' Orinda home.

Suddenly the area was cut off to the west as Fish Ranch, Bear Creek, Wildcat, Redwood and San Pablo Dam Roads were hit by mud slides.

Mud cascaded into control rooms of the Caldecott Tunnel, cutting the area's main artery to the west when tunnel lighting and ventilation were knocked out.

The few cars that made the last trips through the tunnel Saturday were turned back at the east portal when more mud flowed across Highway 24 and falling power poles sent hot high-voltage lines snaking through the debris. By this time slides had cut down western access to the tunnel.

CUT OFF, the area turned in upon itself to face what might have been the worst flood in its history.

Several Orinda homes were islands in seas of mud. Only streets on high ground in cities were not flooded.

More homes in Pleasant Hill and Walnut Creek were invaded by up to a foot of water.

Creeks rose dangerously close to flood levels, washed out small bridges and tore down huge trees on their banks. Power and telephone lines were down or shorted in many areas.

BY THIS TIME county, city and charitable agencies had worked at least once around the clock. Downtown Walnut Creek was evacuated.

The Red Cross set up evacuation centers at Walnut Creek Recreation Center, Las Lomas School in Walnut Creek, Pine Grove in Orinda, Oak Park in Pleasant Hill and elsewhere.

AS WALNUT CREEK threatened to go over its banks, the county disaster office considered proclaiming an official county-wide state of disaster. Creek discharge had reached record levels set in the floods of 1955 and 1958.

But, as Carl Rich subsequently explained, a $500,000 channeling project recently completed on Walnut Creek averted floods which could have caused several millions.

This and the relative dryness of the ground before the rains prevented worse flood damage than that experienced five and eight years ago, Rich said.

AND THEN, as suddenly as they began, the rains stopped. Orinda-Moraga by this time had received over 20 inches during the storm, while Walnut Creek registered over 10 inches.

Sunday dawned clear, and it was all over—but the mopping up . . . and the statistics.

Few firm estimates were available late this week, but damages to public and private property went easily over the million-dollar mark.

According to latest reports, most county, city and state roads had been reopened. Roads still closed included all major county roads behind Moraga, and Hampton and Bear Creek Roads. Fish Ranch Road was reported to have opened Thursday.

Creek Clearance Funds Approved by Supervisors

The County Board of Supervisors listened to a resume of the damage done by the week-end storm, granted permission for the use of up to $10,000 in flood control funds to clear trees and other debris from the creeks to the County Flood and Water Conservation District, and allowed the Public Works Department $5000 to hire outside contractors to help with the road cleanup.

According to Carl Rich, chief engineer for the Flood and Water Conservation District, two main factors kept the storm from becoming a major disaster throughout the county. One was the recent channel work done on Walnut Creek. The capacity of the creek was increased from 6500 cubic feet of water to about 11,000. Water was thus able to stay within the creek banks and there was no major areawide flooding.

THE OTHER FACTOR was that since the storm was the first major rain of the season, the ground was dry and able to absorb much water.

Rich said that if the ground were already wet and full of water, much more would have poured into creeks and more creeks would have overflowed.

In asking for permission to use the flood control funds, Rich said that $600,000 spent recently on Walnut Creek Channel prevented five times as much flood damage.

He added, however, that many of the contractors working on flood control jobs suffered heavy damage when mud and water wrecked equipment and buried projects.

Separate federal funds in addition to the money from Small Business Administration loans were requested for disaster relief in Contra Costa County by Congressman John Baldwin in an appeal to President Kennedy.

The board reaffirmed this request, although it was not known immediately whether such aid would be approved.

In other business, the possibility of relocation of the district headquarters from Oak Grove Road and Ygnacio Valley in Walnut Creek, to Martinez will be studied.

Supervisor Tom Coll strongly favored the move which he said would allow opening of a permit bureau for construction and planning in Martinez, saving developers the necessity of traveling across the county for various signatures on permits.

THE COMMISSIONERS apparently were not in favor of the move.

In other action, the administration and finance committee of the board will make a recommendation Tuesday whether to support a proposed one cent increase in the state gasoline tax. Money from this tax is used for local roads.

Permission was granted to the Mt. Diablo Fire District to shift $20,000 of its own funds to purchase land near the main firehouse in Concord.

A tax brochure to be mailed out with tax bills and veterans exception forms was approved. The brochure explains the sources of various local property taxes.

TWO NEW CIVIL service positions were created, the posts of programmer and programmer trainee. This was necessary because of the difficulty the county has had in recruiting data processing programmers for its new electronic brain.

A $2000 appropriation was approved to allow four detectives in the sheriff's office to be trained in the use of lie detectors.

Tunnel: Both Bores Monday?

Both bores of Caldecott Tunnel will open Monday, according to latest estimates from the Division of Highways.

Temporary power being installed at the east portal will operate ventilation fans.

California Division of Highways District Engineer Haig Ayanian told The Sun late yesterday that there will be no one-bore half-way measures undertaken.

"We'll work until we can open both bores, and we may be able to do so by Monday."

Until that time, he said, present part-time rush-hour schedule will prevail.

The tunnel was closed last Saturday when a sea of mud avalanched into the control room at the west portal and knocked out electrical control panels of the lighting and ventilating system.

The tunnel has been dark and without ventilation all week. Since Tuesday, westbound traffic has been permitted through the tunnel between 6 and 9 a.m., eastbound between 4 and 7 p.m.

Chemists sampling carbon monoxide concentration in tunnel air set the temporary limits, according to Jack Grassburger of the California Division of Highways.

EXTENSIVE DAMAGE to electrical control components in the tunnel was the main reason for the shutdown, Grassburger reported. Fred Campbell, state resident engineer on the Orinda-to-tunnel road project told The Sun from the scene that most must in the control room had been removed by Tuesday.

Electricians have since been rewiring, replacing and repairing various control components. Damage estimates are not yet available.

Sand in the bearings of ventilation fan motors was another cause for the failure of the system, Campbell said.

ROAD SURFACES in the tunnel were not damaged by several inches of rock-filled mud which coursed through the tunnel on Saturday.

Clearing of this mud was the first work in repair of the tunnel, Grassburger said. The tunnel was not damaged structurally, he said.

Even if tunnel lights and ventilation had remained on during the weekend storm, commuters would still not have been able to use tree-strewn, slide-covered Highway 24 before Tuesday.

SLIDES COVERED at least one lane on both tunnel approaches. Power lines snapped from falling poles on the eastern approach. Almost all power poles have been rebraced and reset along the approaches, Campbell said.

Tree branches, boulders and mud were cleared from the approaches by mid-week. Large portions of the eastbound outside lane between Caldecott and Orinda were washed out, Campbell said, and explained that the roadway will be shifted and restriped twelve feet to the north.

Consequent detours will require no speed reduction, he added. The shift, which will begin approximately 500 feet east of the tunnel, will also move traffic away from extensive cutting work immediately south of the highway.

CALDECOTT 3, under construction now, was not damaged during the storm, according to state resident engineer Irv Black.

Some outside work, including service roads and bridges, was damaged, Black said. "But the bore is the essential part of the job," he explained.

"Because it held up, we shouldn't lose any time on the job," he concluded.

Supt. Dent Under Fire For Political Stand

A flood of phone calls to the office of James Dent, Mt. Diablo superintendent of schools, followed the publication of a column in a district monthly school bulletin in which Dent gave his views on the importance of the election of a state superintendent of schools and added his own preference.

Dent, who said he wouldn't knowingly violate any law, stated he merely pointed out, in his column titled, "Superintendent's Readings," the importance of the race, urging teachers to study both candidates carefully.

"The only place I might have erred, if it was an error, was to state my personal preference," he said.

Dent said he was not personally involved in the campaign in any way, although he said he prefers Ralph Richardson.

There were reports yesterday

Flood Fight Council Created; Call Sheriff

A Flood Fight Council was activated by Sheriff Walter Young to handle the tremendous number of calls from storm victims.

The council is under the direction of Ron Nelson, assistant civilian defense director.

Its purpose is to direct calls from property owners to the Red Cross, Public Works Administration, sheriff's office or proper county department.

Residents who have a problem are asked to call their local number for the sheriff's office. The call will be referred to the council if the sheriff's office cannot handle it.

Sun Candidates Night Features Hottest Race

The two candidates for state superintendent of public instruction will be represented by high-level campaign spokesmen, Thursday, November 1, during The Sun Candidate Night, beginning at 8 p.m. at Acalanes High School gymnasium.

The public is invited. Admission is free.

Speaker for Max Rafferty will be Mrs. Henrietta Koch of Albany, co-chairman of the Alameda-Contra Costa Rafferty committee.

Announcement of the spokesman for Ralph Richardson will be announced soon.

There will also be a debate on the issues of "Proposition A," the $792 million bond issue for a three-county rapid transit system.

Candidates who will speak include the following:

Congressman John Baldwin, Republican, and his opponent Charles Weidner of Pleasant Hill.

Assemblyman Jerome Waldie and his opponent, David Fisher of Pleasant Hill.

Assemblyman John Knox and his opponent, John Anderson of Orinda.

CD Includes Chaplains in Disaster Plans

Clergymen and church leaders met Wednesday to complete formation of a County-wide Civil Defense and Disaster Chaplain Service, Will H. Perry, Jr., director of the Contra Costa County Disaster Office announced today.

Representative clergymen from many religious denominations have been working on the plans for the Chaplain Service for over two years and will present the final plan to the clergymen of the county on Wednesday morning.

Over 300 clergymen throughout the county received invitations.

The meeting was held in the Fellowship Hall of the Walnut Creek Methodist Church.

Politics Meet Planned by Realtors Board

The Contra Costa Board of Realtors will conduct a political education program for members Monday at 8 a.m. at the Walnut Creek Elks Club, according to J. N. Smith, president.

Congressman John F. Baldwin, Senator George P. Miller and Assemblymen Jerome Waldie and Donald Doyle will speak.

The truce on the storm front is an uneasy one, and more rain in Contra Costa County could devastate areas flooded last week, experts warned yesterday.

Flood threats are "beginning to look like 1955 all over again," according to William Horn, chief of flood operations for the State Department of Water Resources.

Floods dealt severe damage to the central county area in that year.

SATURATED soil and full reservoirs are the main factors in future flood threats. Debris in culverts and creeks is another potential flood-maker, according to Carl Rich, head engineer of the County Flood Control and Water Conservation District.

Rich said the county was definitely "not in good shape at present because of the debris problem."

Experts throughout the state agreed that a long dry spell is all that can avert major disaster if more storms strike.

Normally, gradually increasing rains during the winter would be soaked up by the top few feet of soil and water basins, Horn explained.

"But now," he said, "top soil and basins are primed—like a sponge full of water."

Any little storm in November or December would cause heavy damage in the state, he said.

ON THE COUNTY level, crews worked continually to clear roads, drains, creekbeds and culverts.

Many local governments in the area were considering increased flood protection by midweek, but most admitted major projects would not come in time for rain this year.

County disaster officials advised that most increased protection must come through individual efforts.

The county is proceeding with a mass education campaign based on a "flood-fight information bulletin" to be published in the next few weeks.

Many people are misinformed on methods to control home and property damage, the office said.

SANDBAGS in particular were misused during the last week's floods.

The office advised that sandbags will not keep much standing water out of property, and are most effectively used to channel running water.

While state flood control warned that billions of gallons of water may have to be released from Bay Area reservoirs, the East Bay Municipal Utilities District reported that no water would be released from area reservoirs, barring another storm.

League Endorses Transit

Endorsement of Rapid Transit Proposition "A" by the Bay Area League of Women Voters this week came as a result of "two years of careful study." The league announced this week that research and discussion revealed the proposed transit system as a vital link in the growth of Bay Area. The endorsement, the league announcement said, was not to be considered part of the organization's voter service program. Voter service by the league has included publication of pros and cons on state propositions, radio and service club programs and voter registration.

Absentees Must Order Ballots Now

General election ballots for absentee voters are now being distributed by the county election department, according to W. T. Paasch, county clerk.

Ballots are issued to voters who are unable to attend their voting precincts on the day of election.

Applications for the ballots shall be signed by the applicant, show his place of residence, and shall make clear to the clerk the voter's right to a ballot.

The voted absentee ballots must be received in the clerk's office not later than November 3, Paasch added.

Gas Station No. 10 Will Be Aired This Week

Pros and cons of a proposed gas station in Orinda will be aired this week.

A public hearing before the County Board of Adjustment on Norcal's application to put in a gas station on a portion of the property between The Plaza and Lucky store is set for Wednesday night. It will be at 7:30 p.m. in room 210, Hall of Records, Court and Main Streets, Martinez.

TOM FERGUSON, representing owners of the property, will appear before the regular meeting of the board of directors of the Orinda Association Monday night. The meeting, which will convene at 7:30 p.m. in the Orinda School auditorium, is open to the public.

Although Louis Stores is listed as owner of the property by the county, the new owner is Orinda Development Company. It is headed by Tom Ferguson, Ted Greenfield and Dave Kittinger.

Ferguson, an Oakland attorney who resides in Sleepy Hollow, stated: "We live here, like Orinda, and want to do the best possible job of developing the site. We want to give the people what they need and want within the boundaries of what is possible to accomplish."

THE PROPERTY, which has a 240-foot frontage, is now zoned for planned neighborhood business. All gas stations must get a land use permit from the county.

Eight stations are now operating in Orinda. A ninth is being constructed in the village by Orinda Motors.

Also on Wednesday night, Humble Oil Company will apply for Lafayette's 22nd gas station. Proposed location is the site of Danny Van Allen's restaurant-bar on Mt. Diablo Boulevard.

John Ogden, president of Orinda Rotary, strongly opposed the addition of gas station No. 10. His store is adjacent to the site.

OGDEN STATED that another gas station in Orinda would turn the frontage of Orinda Way to another "gasoline alley."

Ferguson said that his company's idea of a Town and Country type of development is still a possibility.

"We would welcome ideas from the people of Orinda as to what they want. We'd be interested in people joining a syndicate to put in the nicest possible development to benefit the greatest number of people," said Ferguson.

He mentioned the possibility of a recreational facility such as a bowling alley.

It's News Here, Too

A LAUNCHING, not an opening was the Pleasant Hill Demo Club shindig last Saturday afternoon. The affair set to mark the official opening of the political headquarters in that city, was almost rained out.

Bert Betts, state treasurer and honored guest, was held up in Concord because of flooded roads. Club President Craig Randall, acting as his chauffeur, was likewise stranded. Mayor Lenard Grote, also on the "dignitaries" list, was pretty busy over at the city hall with a potential disaster on his hands.

Twenty hardy souls enjoyed the refreshments prepared for over 100 and then left to clear the mud damage to their homes and gardens.

A FORTUNATE few dolls from the Women's Auxiliary of the Contra Costa County Dental Society enjoyed a tour of a Chinese cookie factory this week.

It is not true, denied Mrs. Robert Dickson, Alamo publicity chairman, that the cookies were stuffed with fortunes reading, "Your spouse can cause needless pain."

PARTY POOPERS are the Walnut Creek Elks Club committee in charge of their Halloween dance scheduled for October 27. Guests are invited to "Come with or without costume," and then admonished parenthetically to "wear at least a fig leaf!"

FULL COLLEGE equipment these days includes a light plane. Otherwise how can a student join the Air Club at Diablo Valley College to participate in the "Fly-In" to Columbia October 28? The club holds its meetings during College Hour in the Aviation Lab.

CITED FOR gallantry during the floods: K. L. Paulsen, a young, expectant father who felt his way, on foot, through the totally blacked out, mud-drenched Broadway tunnel at the height of the deluge Saturday afternoon, determined to get to his wife in Walnut Creek.

A very puzzled Sun reporter saw the fellow emerge blinking from the tunnel, a cash-receipts bag on his head, his arms stretched gropingly in front of him, mud oozing from his coat, and trousers soaked up to the knees.

"It was sort of eerie," was his only comment on his experience. After obtaining a ride to Walnut Creek, he was last seen tight-rope-walking a board fence along flooded Newell Avenue.

ARTHUR SCHARLACH, Explorer advisor for Boy Scout Troop 243, Lafayette, who earned a merit badge in flare signaling. The last one across the St. Mary's bridge over Las Trampas Creek before the thundering cave-in, he lighted flares (Scouts are always prepared) and signaled warnings until the Highway Patrol took over.

THE EL TOYONAL neighbors in Orinda who opened their homes to 10 families on South Trail Road just above them. These families, with their homes ruined and condemned by the county, had no other place to turn.

ARE THESE trips necessary? Green little flashes of doubt assail us when we read of county approved junkies like these:

District Attorney John Nejedly to Las Vegas next month, to attend the "First Involuntary Congress on Crime Detection and Related Matters..." How to spot a gambling house from personal observation?

Or veterans service officer William Smaker to attend the semi-annual meeting of Oregon County service officers in Seaside, Oregon, this week. He is authorized "to travel by county car in order that he may visit other service officers' departments en route" and swap stories?

Or the authorization for Supervisor Linscheid to attend, at county expense, the California Industrial Development Conference in Los Angeles next week. "Our baseball industry is better than your baseball industry."

THERE MAY not always be an England if this keeps up: The theory of "built-in obsolescence" has penetrated to the Rolls Royce. Four headlights instead of two, the first change since 1955, will make the 1963 models "readily distinguishable from their immediate predecessors" heralds their Detroit-sounding release.

Public, Creek Damages $100,000 in Walnut Creek

An official state of emergency was proclaimed in the city of Walnut Creek at the height of last week's storm when rain-swollen Walnut Creek threatened to leap its banks.

Recent channeling done on the creek averted major disaster, however, and the city escaped with public damages of approximately $100,000.

First damage in the city came at 7 p.m. Thursday when downed power lines in the Walnut Avenue area brought out fire department and Pacific Gas and Electric crews.

Within 40 minutes firemen also responded to calls from two homeowners who reported a tree down on house power lines at 2915 San Antonio and a tree which smashed a house at 1899 Ygnacio Valley Road.

OTHER MAJOR damage came on Saturday when extensive flooding was reported in large sections of the city east of Walnut Creek.

Merchants throughout the downtown area sandbagged store fronts when Locust Street flooded completely between Bonanza and Civic Drive.

Approximately 30 persons evacuated from threatened homes received Red Cross shelter and aid at evacuation centers set up at the Recreation Department and Las Lomas High School.

Uncounted others were sheltered in homes of friends as water rose to 14 inches in flooded homes.

AT FOUR P.M. Saturday, acting city manager Armand Werle asked Mayor Nelson to declare a state of emergency.

Stores in the downtown area were closed at this time, and shoppers and merchants were evacuated. Motorists were advised — not directed — to avoid the area.

Erroneous reports on local radio stations said that Police Chief Leigh Brilliant threatened any motorist in the area with a citation. Brilliant has subsequently denied having made such a statement.

THE POLICE department had by this time worked at least twice around the clock, both regular and reserve forces participating in sandbagging, traffic control, evacuation and other emergency aid.

Elsewhere in the city there were few intersections without some flood conditions.

Several homes on Bishop Lane were threatened when San Ramon Creek ate through gaps in new creek work there and kept contractor Guy F. Atkinson company on the job around the clock.

Tons of fill were dumped at that point to check destruction of the bank. Atkinson even pushed two automobiles off the edge to hold the fill.

WALNUT CREEK crested and fell around 5 p.m. and the state of emergency was relaxed.

Little Billy McCarthy Is Victim of the Storm

Billy McCarthy of Orinda would have been eight years old in a few weeks. He was the only fatality of the storm in the county.

BILLY WAS standing by the kitchen door at the back of the McCarthy home, 5 Del Valle, Orinda. He'd been begging his father to allow him to help barricade their house against the slippage of mud.

W. G. McCarthy, supervisor of elementary education in the University of California Department of Education, was working furiously in the downpour to protect his house.

Without warning, an avalanche of mud came upon them at what neighbors estimate at 70 miles an hour. It broke loose from the hillside about 75 yards above father and son.

McCarthy was knocked down. Billy was buried. Immediately, neighbors rushed to the scene to help.

HIS MOTHER and a neighbor found Billy. An autopsy revealed that he'd been knocked unconscious or killed instantly by a blow on the head.

Two doctors were on the scene and administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. The fire department couldn't get through with their rescuer until an hour later because of the road blockade. Billy was "dead on arrival."

Father Cardelli of Orinda's Santa Maria Church walked up the hill in the torrential rain to administer last rites. Besides his parents, Billy is

Hard-Hit Folks Call Meeting, Seek Leaders

Residents of Reliez Valley Estates No. 2 are asked to attend a meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in room 105, Acalanes High School.

For discussion will be the flooding problem in the estates area.

Supervisor Mel Neilsen has been asked to the meeting as have representatives of East Bay Municipal Utility District, American Pipe Company and Pacific Telephone Company.

A spokesman for the residents said 75 per cent of the approximately 50 homes in the valley were flooded Saturday.

THE AREA is located between Acalanes High School and the freeway, east of Pleasant Hill Road.

The two main reasons for the flooding were: 1) 14-inch drainage pipes could not handle the water being dumped into the ditch from 30-inch pipes along Pleasant Hill Road and 2) the nine-foot EBMUD pipe being constructed through Lafayette broke, shooting water as high as eight feet in the air.

American Pipe is the company doing the work for EBMUD, the spokesman said. The area is now plagued by a mud and silt problem as is most of Lafayette.

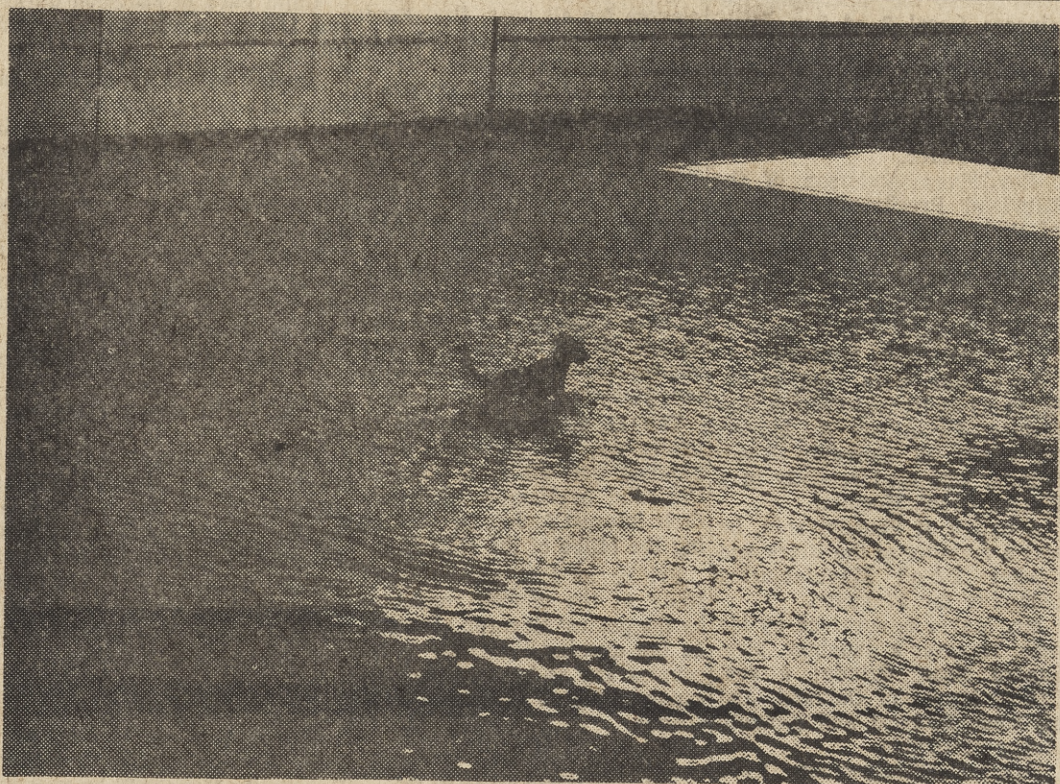

A rain this week would bring more flooding to the area, the spokesman said. The inadequate drainage pipes are completely covered with mud and cannot be located, he said.

Hacienda Homes Plans Meeting For Victims

Hacienda Homes Improvement Association and Hacienda Homes, Inc., representing about 1025 homes in the El Toyonal area, is calling a special meeting for storm victims.

It will be Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Orinda School auditorium. Purpose will be to discuss financial problems of homeowners who suffered losses due to the storm and to discuss arrangements for financial aid, according to T. W. Rimer, president.

Art Smith, secretary of the board and manager of roads, will report on what is being done, as well as what is being planned.

Silt, Not Swamp For Lafayette

Lafayette was luckier than its neighbors last weekend.

There were no floods as the es that plagued Concord, Pleasant Hill and Walnut Creek causing evacuation in some areas.

There were no homes completely destroyed by mud slides such as the case in Orinda. There was widespread water and mud damage to homeowners and business establishments.

Lafayette received less rainfall than its neighbors and was saved much of their grief, the County Public Works Department reported.

APPROXIMATELY 14 inches of rain fell in the Lafayette area last week while Orinda had 17 and Moraga-Canyon had almost 20 inches in some parts.

One of the hard hit areas of Lafayette was Reliez Valley Estates No. 2 where a section of East Bay Municipal Utility District's "Giant M" aqueduct broke, causing general flooding throughout that area.

Public works reported that "generally, there was much less damage to private buildings than in previous storms."

County officials say the entire area is suffering from a silting problem in the roadside ditches and culverts.

The department is optimistic that the sunshine will continue thereby giving them enough time to get drainage pipes functioning properly again.

CANYON WAS the hardest hit area locally, the department reported.

Pinehurst Road, both north and south, is closed indefinitely, they said.

The county has hired private equipment to aid in the cleanup operations in the Lafayette area. The men and equipment will remain on the job until the silting problem is licked, it was reported.

Other divisions in the Public Works Department are aiding the maintenance section until operation is normal.

At the four stations of the Lafayette Fire District, things started happening at 7:03 p.m. Thursday when a wire was reported down. A tree limb, broken off by the high wind, had fallen on the wire.

HOWEVER, it was almost 24 hours later when the calls became almost too numerous to handle.

All off duty men were called in and remained on the job for 48 hours.

More than 50 calls were answered in those 48 hours.

All fire department equipment was taxed to the limit. Fire Chief Robert Winkle reported.

Two men were needed in the control room of the main station on Moraga Road during the peak period, he said.

Sandbags were needed to keep the main control center open Saturday.

Flood waters from Mt. Diablo Boulevard backed up and invaded the station and threatening the "nerve center" of the fire operations.

Winkle reported that the Burton Valley area and the Stanley Boulevard area near Acalanes (Reliez Valley Estates No. 2) were the hardest hit section of Lafayette.

He said the water came out of Hunsacker Canyon and flooded the surrounding lowlands.

Most of the calls responded to by the fire department were common for the entire central county area.

It was mud in basement, flooded basement, water under house, trees on wires, flooding garage, slide behind house, flooding storm drains, sparking wires, broken sewers or plugged drains that kept the firemen jumping.

In many cases the fire fighters could offer little assistance. There were times when the equipment could not get to the scene of the emergency.

THE CLEANUP operation continued through Sunday and Monday with fire department equipment and men helping hard-pressed homeowners wash the mud out of the garage or unplug a drain.

Along Mt. Diablo Boulevard, merchants located on the north side just stood and watched as rampant water flooded down the hill from the freeway area and into their buildings.

However, throughout the business and residential areas of Lafayette, damage was considered slight when compared to neighboring communities.

Orinda Lashed By Winds, Rain

Orindans were hard hit by the storm; and are still suffering its aftermath.

At the height of the storm, the main fire station had to be evacuated due to flooding. It was caused by the overflow of San Pablo Creek bed. Portions of its cement lining broke.

Many houses and cars were partially buried in mud. Roads were blocked. A child was killed. Trees were toppled. Live wires came down. American Red Cross set up emergency headquarters at Pine Grove School.

Work on Orinda's first multiple, Brookwood Apartments, was set back a month. A state culvert broke, causing a deluge which took out form work.

Completion date will now have a target of December 1 instead of November 1, according to builder Peter Mattei.

Orinda's 32 firemen worked around the clock for 80 hours, answering hundreds of calls, under the direction of Fire Chief Al Winsor.

The El Toyonal area, between Orinda and Tilden Park, was hardest hit. Four families are still isolated on mud-blocked Via San Inigo.

Eight families on South Trail, also off El Toyonal, have been unable to return to their homes. The total number of homes in that one area which had to be evacuated because of the avalanche of mud from the surrounding banks is approximately 25.

Yesterday, for the first time since Saturday morning, El Toyonal was passable. A one-lane passage has been cleared by the county and Hacienda Homes, Inc., who represent about 1025 homes in the area.

Axel Rasmussen, superintendent of transportation for the Acalanes School District, announced that he would not allow school buses on the road until a county check is made on the roadbed.

Children are transported by bus from La Encinal or by car pool.

One of the most difficult problems is for those who live on small private roads above El Toyonal. The county will not clear their roads. Three of these have their own organization: the Del Valle-Vista Del Orinda and Tumbling Brook Road System.

Mrs. Celia Luthy, secretary, announces that the group of 14 homeowners is going to follow engineering advice to redirect the water.

It was in the McCarthy back yard at 5 Del Valle that the county's only fatality occurred. Billy McCarthy, 6, was killed by an avalanche of earth.

Mrs. David Davis, 6 Via San Inigo, has only telephone contact with the outside world. A footpath through hip-deep mud is the sole route to her home.

Mrs. Davis and her three mud-locked neighbors aren't entitled to clearance by the county, they have been told.

The other three isolated families are the Gerald Williamsons, who have a one-week-old son; the Freud Voelkers and the Sherman Farrells.

A county flood control engineer and a University of California geologist examined the El Toyonal "slide area" Wednesday. They said that there was no danger of the hill going. More rains will only wash down the disturbed earth.

Eddie Higgins, an Orinda fireman who had to evacuate his home on South Trail, is acting as a spokesman for the eight evacuees on that street. The group met Monday and Tuesday nights to decide which course of action to take to get federal aid.

Representatives of the Red Cross, Hacienda Homes and Supervisor Mel Nielsen have visited the afflicted area.

When water came to six inches of the ceiling in the basement of Orinda's main fire station Saturday at 1:30 p.m., Fire Chief Al Winsor ordered it to be evacuated.

The fuse box, which had been placed close to the ceiling after the storm of four years ago, again went out. Dispatcher Nan Ellmore operated for half an hour from a walkie-talkie on one of the trucks.

A "hot" line was set up by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph for one of the firemen to send and receive signals. Dr. John Bouleware was given permission to use two outlying fire stations for emergency treatment. However, he couldn't get from the village, where his office is located, through the flooded underpass. So he set up a first aid station in his office — in one foot of water.

Firemen had to rescue three passengers trapped in a car at the underpass.

They cut a tree in sections at Miner Road and Bien Veneta so it could be cleared off the road.

Another hard-hit area was Orchard Road, off Glorietta. At South Point and Charles Hill Circle a culvert stoppage caused a three-foot hole around a telephone pole. Pacific Telephone and Telegraph responded.

And Del Courtney and wife Yvonne King lost their swimming pool.

Sunday started a week of Operation: Mop-up for Orinda.

Chief Winsor had the fuse box moved from the basement to the first floor.

Moraga Memo

By JANE PUTNAM

Rains Came and Came and Came

THE VALLEY hasn't had such a soaking since 1862. Odd that the storm should strike on the centennial of the greatest flood in California history. Our historian, Gladys Shally, tells us that a hundred years ago, the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys were one big lake, and the capital had to be moved to San Francisco.

MUD, MUD, MUD and more mud was left in the wake of the storm. Houses, stores, orchards were flooded. But we can count our blessings. The only Moraga fatality was the cow that Janice and Al McCosker lost in Canyon after it drowned.

A SALUTE to Fire Chief Al Baitx and his 25 regular and volunteer firemen who fought flood and fire 'round the clock throughout The Storm.

STORM STORK: Laurene and Cheever Wright had a police escort take them to Alta Bates Hospital, Berkeley, Friday night for the advent of their second daughter. The babe is safely at home, 31 Hettfield Place with Mom, Dad and sister Toni, 1½. If she hasn't been named, "Tempest Storm" or "Gail" mightn't be apropos, mightn't it?

The day before the storm, Norma Willers arrived from Australia to be on hand when her daughter, Pamela Marx, gives birth to Mrs. Willers' first grandchild. The gracious visitor responded to apologies about the weather with: "Oh never mind, in Australia we often have a fortnight of this." (Is that why they call it Down Under?)

MORAGA NEWCOMERS' first fall luncheon at Marini's wasn't dampened by the weather. John Wheatman, Jackson's decorator, who was the luncheon speaker, described the group as the "most animated" he'd ever addressed. Perhaps they had to keep moving to keep dry.

"I wasn't going to mention the weather," said President Pat Keilman. "But inasmuch as the firemen just went through and we may be evacuated any minute—" Pat also bemoaned the fact that her husband, Vincent, had just reseeded their lawn.

One of Jean Ottesen's guests was her mother, Mrs. Frances Henderson. During the question period, Mrs. Henderson remarked: "I'm from Berkeley." "Good. I hope you get back," said Wheatman. (Jean did the artistic table decor.)

Mary Kay Drennan, general chairman of the luncheon, should take a deep bow for carrying off a party against odds that might've drowned Elsa Maxwell... Ditto for Buster and Anita Marini, restaurateurs extraordinaire. It was Anita's birthday; but she rolled up her sleeves, went into the kitchen and helped feed a crew of firemen who hadn't eaten since 7 p.m. the night before. Volunteer fireman Little Mike Marini, in a big slicker, did his share to add to the confusion.

Among others who worked on the rainy-day soiree were Lu Avery, Flo Darby, Louise Hubbard, Marilyn Robbins, Shirley Thaler, Jo Tolhurst, Vera Genavoli, and Mrs. Roy Scheve.

Sunshine Chairman Madeline Cook had but nothing to report. Lu Avery announced that the group now has 83 members. V.P. Pat Hyde said she'd make her announcement, "if I can find a shallow spot of water to stand in!"

Other committee heads who reported included Lee Paris, arts & crafts; Janet Reinecke, gourmet; Elsie Dyer, treasurer; Bobbie Stevenson of Lynch Court supplied the table favors, courtesy of Edith Rehnberg Cosmetics.

Looking out the window, decorator Wheatman suggested as a good color for carpeting in Moraga: peat moss, dust, dirt, mud, sand, clay, fertilizer or a good tweedy mixture of grass stains.

GREAT WEATHER for the Moraga Ranch Swim Club who're holding their costume Halloween party at Carroll Country Club, October 27. Planning the buffet-dance are: Mary Lou Holt, Kitty Hall, Bobby Stevenson, Bonnie Firshow, Ruth Bartlett, Jeannette Costa, Shirley Hovey and Yvonne Mauzey.

"The party is open to everyone. Bring your friends and neighbors," says Yvonne. Call Ruth at 376-4916 or Jeannette at 376-4396 for reservations.

CANYON DRIPPINGS. Canyon School Principal Rubyruth Beers was a 10 o'clock scholar the first of the week—victim of the traffic tie-up, commuting from her Berkeley home... A swimming pool service car was swamped on Pinehurst Road... Sigrid Batchelder, wife of artist Jonathan, took a spill on a mud slide and almost landed in the creek... a 12x12x20 board used for a car stop floated like a toothpick down a slide in Saturday's flash flood... Floating in a sea of muddy debris was a white china egg—possibly from Joe Periera's or Garibaldi's Wingari Acres chicken ranches... East Bay MUD men launched a boat from an elaborate jeep and trailer rig on Canyon Road to get supplies to the water company's caretaker, Gene Hambrick, in the Dam area.

SUN DAY, the mud oozed like chocolate pudding turning gopher holes into a thousand springs... As residents surveyed the damage, galosh-deep in the ooze, thousands of ladybird beetles (red bugs) seemed to swarm right out of the ground.

Coffee Party to Be Given for Dr. Richardson

Coffee and a tape recording will be offered at the Sleepy Hollow coffee party to be given Tuesday, 10 a.m. till noon, by Mrs. Rudolph Hall, 78 Sleepy Hollow Lane.

Mrs. Graham stated that the tape is a recorded speech by Dr. Ralph Richardson, candidate for state superintendent of public instruction.

She extends an invitation to anyone interested in information about the office or the candidate. A speaker will be on hand to answer questions.

Mrs. James Campbell, also of Sleepy Hollow, will assist Mrs. Graham.

The Rains Came . . .

What started out as a first real rain with a cozy fire inside, like the Robert Markses, or an exercising walk along winding La Encinal road with an umbrella overhead for Mrs. Dishong, turned into a turbulent 3-day storm, the likes of which this native of twelve years has never seen before.

THE RAINS came, the heavens raged, the sheets of gray beads beat at windows, rapped at roofs, tore off tree limbs, knocked down mailboxes, telegraph poles & sent the murky waters of the Village culvert surging angrily like a yellow Yangtze River gone wild.

WARREN Harrold's car, parked in the forefront of the Village Customer Parking, was picked up by the gale, tossed into the wild waters like a little toy car, seconds later sank to the bottom.

PIECES OF concrete pilings & supports tumbled downstream like light pieces of styrofoam; same impression of the rocks that came tumbling down onto the Freeway & Tunnel Road . . . Our Finest Firemen answering every frantic call, yet having to cope w/a tidal wave of water bursting into the firehouse basement.

THE SOUND & THE FURY . . . The anguished cry of the fire sirens, a common steady sound all day Saturday . . . Henrietta Den Dulk & other customers cozy under the driers at Jimmy Barnes' Pink Door, suddenly finding themselves swept out of their chairs & waist-high in muddy water, w/not even a warning to lay down a magazine or pick up a purse . . . Owner Jimmy counting customers' heads as they hurriedly retreated to the street.

A CARPET OF slippery mud spreading itself out in front of Lucky's Village store . . . & water up ABOVE the pedestrian walk at the X-roads underpass making traffic prohibitive, necessitating detouring, bumper-to-bumper, up the "Do Not ENTER" ramp (incoming road from Walnut Creek) across & over the Freeway to get from one end of town to the other. (2 hrs. for some).

Husbands & wives telling stories of late homecomings in Friday's downpour—3-4 hr. bay bridge crossings, for most, via Richmond & San Pablo Dam Road . . .

THE RAINS CAME, relentlessly & left destruction in their path . . . Over on South Trail, 6 families were evacuated, most of them recent newcomers, new homeowners to this area . . . Beryl Hoyer and her family kept the coffee coming for all the evacuees . . . The Joe Lipovacs heading up to the Handises . . . The Richardsons & Graces & their children welcomed & warmed at the Murray McNeills.

A SICK rumble of a sound at 6 PM & a power pole down, spitting anger (add a "d" for danger) at its loose ends . . . Candles & coleman lanterns to cook by & one for all & all for one as strangers met around the supper table . . .

THE South Trail houses looking like they were ravaged by war but the only blitz & bomb here were the wet blobs that never stopped till they turned a woody hillside into a sliding mountain of mush.

SWIMMING POOLS overflowed, patios dropped downhill, retainer walls collapsed . . . There were hollow walls where halls of ivy had once grown & its pristine suburban world of Orinda wallowed in a mess of mud & mire.

SANDBAGS barricaded the Charles Wilsons; neighbors rushed to pitch in w/shovel & save the Dick Hales' home; Floyd Svensson & Mr. Landers diverting a torrential drain of water, were almost bowled over by a gushing wall of water.

Mary Rushforth thought Bob was down in the basement. But he was out in their backyard grabbing for his life w/a rake having lost his foothold on the slippery sides of the roaring creek that passes usually peacefully at the lower rim of the garden. His boots had filled w/water & weighted him down.

OVER IN SLEEPY Hollow, the Walter Boysens' duck pond was swollen & the only ones unconcerned were the ducks . . . Up on Charles Hill Road, the Chris Maginni's brimming pool, their pride & joy, took on an extra hunk of property when the land above oozed down & into it. (Las Vegas was off!)

The Great Deluge . . .

HARDEST hit area of all was upper El Toyonal region, but it took the big papers awhile to get around to telling everybody . . . The blocked road, starting at the point above the Loma Vista drop, points up the urgency to get El Toyonal fixed but good, for good . . . Homeowners were literally without fire protection until Tues. late when road crews opened a one-lane thoroughfare.

THE PACKARDS' home a mizerable mess, the landslide coming right down opposite & onto their property & house . . . The Van Dyke Millers nearby, safe & sound, but their car still under mud . . . ditto the entire driveway of the Guido Lancionis . . . & Mr. L. is OKAY. Rumors flew about everybody!

UP HIGH off El Toy on Dos Osos, sculptress Lefty Kilpatrick & husband Bob were completely isolated & accgd. to one PGE man, would be without electricity for two or three weeks . . . but a neighbor hiking in & up to them came upon the couple sitting relaxed by the fireside, cooking over coals & waxing philosophically that one has to get used to everything.

IN ORINDA STORE, one busy matron wishing out loud that her telephone would go out for good . . . & a youngish woman sauntering into Phair's in the downpour, a strange sight in a hip-length raincoat exposing long bare legs & short bare feet . . . Another character in a battered tweed hat carrying a peculiar box w/a pin sticking out of it . . . Radar?

The Sid Kroffts, who just missed the ravages of The Rain in Spain, flew from Majorca Saturday, were home Monday to find their house in good shape, thanks to neighbor Norman Coates who piled sandbags up along the front . . .

UP IN THE Alta Vista area, hardest hit in '58, the Frenses home moved 8' off its moorings . . . & over in Oak Springs area, a ranch house at the end of Patricia Rd., was accordion-pleated (by the hillside back of it) like so much papier-mache.

The David Hackett's son Paul & the George Hauer's Judy pitching in to shovel in their neighborhood . . . & Lucy Hupp lending a determined hand at the wheelbarrow in near vicinity . . .

Jim Chapple's white sportscar under mud & he out in the storm's roar barricading their bank w/sandbags . . . Down the road apiece, lengths of rolled up carpets, mattresses, ANYTHING, to keep the treacherous water & mud under wraps.

LA ENCINAL impassable & a paper boy, delivering his soggy editions, barely missed being the target of a toppling power pole. The swirling waters of the Orinda Village Fire House swimming toward the ceiling & the formal log fairly flung out the window by 5 p.m. Friday when "D" for Devastation Day really started.

Nan Elmore, Orinda Fire Dept's Dispatcher, taking her calls from an emergency set-up in the Rescue Truck outside when the phones & power went off Saturday afternoon . . . PG&E setting up a hot line at the PG&E plant nr. Pine Grove School where Assistant Chief Robert Miraglio took care of the volume calls . . .

Over a hundred scraps of paper w/SOS calls & our dedicated firemen experiencing the frustrations of wasted time in searching for a name or house number after they arrive in a neighborhood.

After a tragic Saturday, it seemed fantastic that the sun could shine so brilliantly & warm on Sunday . . . In the brightness of day, faces, haggard & weary, still wore looks of disbelief.

South Trail appeared more desecrated by daylight, yet some of the homes had stood unscathed since Orinda was known as a summer resort town & until this bad blow, had survived many a storm . . . Via San Inigo shut off from the world . . .

SUNDAY was not the usual Sabbath for who could afford to rest in the aftermath of such havoc? . . . Strangers teamed together to help still another stranger & found they didn't need the World Series to break the ice or shoulder a shovel.

Monday followed w/Forecast: Fair but there was no laughter & no one walked with a light step . . . In the Village, the owners of shops & offices were digging out from under & a bleary-eyed Jimmie Barnes had worked all day Sunday & long past midnight to re-open for business on Blue Monday. Minus much of his expensive equipment not insured against flood.

Family of the Week

THE PETER MULLERS LOOK AT FAMILY ALBUM

Once upon a Time . . .

STORY TIME is an evening ritual at the Peter Muller residence. But you can bet that fairytales take a back seat when it comes to viewing the pictures in Mom and Dad's wedding album, as the family are shown doing here.

Pete Muller is vice president of the family's general contracting business in the Bay Area and serves as vice president of the General Contractors' Association of the East Bay.

Muller, who attended U.C. and the Armstrong Business College, is a native Oaklander, active in the Rotary Club of North Oakland, the Orinda Young Republicans and a Phi Kappa Sigma alumnus on the Berkeley campus.

A MILLS graduate, where she majored in art, Elizabeth Muller, better known as Betty, is now majoring in poster paint and clay projects as mother to the couple's three youngsters, Allison, 7, a 2nd-grader at Glorietta School, and Craig, 5, and Libby, 3½, who bring their finger painting home from a local nursery school.

DECOR for the Children's Hospital "Spook House" is Betty's current project as a member of Heather Branch and her tykes are enthralled as with the spider mobile she has been carefully assembling for Halloween benefit to take place in Piedmont's Recreation Center. She is a member of the Mt. Diablo Mills Alumnae, Orinda Young Republicans and Meadow Pool, where the family swims.

The Mullers live at 7 Bel Air Drive, having moved here from Pleasant Hill three years ago.

Mother Lode Will Be Lab For Miramonte Students

The Mother Lode gold rush area such as the Mother Lode, they will develop a better appreciation of these disciplines. THE "SEMINAR" leaves Orinda this afternoon. Tomorrow, the group will explore museums, abandoned mine sites and other geographical and historical spots along Route 49, en route to Angel's Camp. They will return home Sunday afternoon.

As a follow-up to the trip, all participants will help to prepare an extensive display of paintings, photography, biological specimens, creative writing and historical commentary. The display will be featured later this year at the Miramonte Annual Open House Art Show.

THE TRIP—called the Unified Disciplines Seminar—is the second trek of its type for Miramonte students.

Last year students explored the Monterey Peninsula area. Teachers hope that by having the students share similar and diverse perspectives—history, literature, art and science—in BLUE MONDAY sightings: Piles of debris all over the place . . . The sight of that silly & adorable flapper-doll that decorated The Pink Door sitting sopping wet & soggy in a heap of wet phone books, magazines, other ruined articles piled high outside the village shops . . .

In Ken Courtwright's office, his Dad's favorite old chair, a survivor of the Yuba Disaster & flood, sitting on high-ground on a backroom card-table & not too worse for where it had been . . . The sticky black silt coating the walls, creeping into neat file drawers, a herculean task ahead for the clean-up crew.

BY MONDAY night's moonlight, the elements were up to their tricks, now flooding Orinda by moonlight, deceptively drenching us in a golden haze. But there were many looking up & out at the stars, thankful & grateful & counting their blessings . . . & wondering why & how it all happened . . .

In a gesture of love and friendship, neighbors & friends have The Billy McCarthy Fund at both banks—Wells Fargo & Central Valley National. Contributions will be turned over to the family as a small token of heartfelt sympathy & understanding . . .

Revolution Plays Role In Divorce

An Orinda woman was awarded $1 a month support in Contra Costa superior court recently. However, her husband was ordered to support her if her funds in El Salvador are tied up by revolution.

Mrs. Antonia L. Dalton, 101 Camino Del Miguel, told Judge Martin E. Rothenberg that the El Salvador funds would support her at $10,000-$11,000 a year.

REVOLUTIONS IN South America tied up her assets before and she feels it could happen again. Mrs. Dalton testified. If this happened, she said that she would take the couple's two children, ages 13 and 9, to live there.

The court ruled that Mrs. Dalton couldn't take the children out of the country; and she would have to return to court to determine whether her husband would be directed to provide support.

Robert L. Dalton, an Oakland consulting engineer, stated that he earns $9000-$40,000 annually.

Mrs. Dalton charged her husband with extreme cruelty. The couple has been separated since 1960.

Pancakes to Be Flipped By Lions

The Lions Club's pancake breakfast will be Sunday in Black's parking lot, according to Chairman Vasco Giannini. It was postponed a week because of the storm.

From 8 a.m. until 1 p.m., a breakfast of pancakes, sausage and coffee will be served for 50 cents.

Proceeds will be turned over to the Red Cross, in care of Carl Mahler in the Walnut Creek office, to be used to help Orinda's storm victims, stated President Allen Winsor.

Supervisor Mel Nielsen has volunteered to be one of the chefs. He showed up last week ready for action.

Other chefs will include Vasco, Winsor, and Andy Anderson.

IN CASE of rain, the breakfast will be postponed again. Committee heads are: Andy Anderson, tables and chairs; Ken Courtwright, publicity; Mario Albo, work; Allen Winsor, equipment; and Vasco Giannini, food.

Mrs. Sigerson Awarded $1450 Alimony Month

Mrs. Barbara Sigerson of Orinda was given temporary custody of her three children and $1450 monthly support by Superior Judge Thomas F. Fraga recently in her divorce action against wealthy Oakland manufacturer Donn C. Sigerson.

Judge Fraga also directed the husband to pay $3000 fees on account to her attorney.

Mrs. Sigerson says her husband "is successfully engaged in engineering and manufacturing business, earning $7500 monthly and can pay $2000-a-month support."

The family home is at 40 Valley Drive, Orinda. The couple wed in 1940, divorced in 1944, remarried in 1945 and separated April 23, according to Mrs. Sigerson.

The children are twin daughters, 15, and a son, 9.

Hats Off To...

32 Firemen, Heroes of Orinda's Worst Storm...

A COMMUNITY'S grateful thanks to each and every member of the Orinda Fire Department, the unsung heroes of last weekend's torrential deluge.

We salute Fire Chief Allen P. Winsor, Assistant Fire Chiefs Manuel Guido and Robert J. Miraglio and Fire Marshal William Koch, who directed operations in the face of chaos and confusion and dispersed crews as fast as humanly possible, taking those in order of most serious danger first.

WE PRAISE Captains Ernest E. Hendricks, Jack Heiser, Jack Kiely, Ed Higgins, Lloyd Vasconcelles, George Danberg and Inspector Donald Altomonti, who were on the spot to save, rescue, lend hand and clear thinking and muscle to the hundreds of SOS appeals for help that came into the three fire stations.

WE honor them all, the red-helmeted firemen who worked unstintingly for 80 hours at a clip, some with no sleep at all, to pull us out from under . . . We salute Firemen Gary Beam, William Koch Jr., George Wall, Paul Lucas, Tom Gannon, Dick Johnson, Earl Horne and Don Boehner.

THEY ALL deserve gold medals, like Firemen Ed Holbrook, Roland Brault, Leo Levy, George Biasotti, John Volpe, Nick Giordano, Gene Devany, Walt Luihn, John Gass, Abe James, Cal Porter and Bob Schwerin. Last, but not least, our gratitude to the Fire Department's fair lady dispatcher Nan Elmore, who stuck with her guns through pell-mell and high water.

A BIG THANKS from everybody!

Two Catholic Highs For Central County Area

Two Catholic high schools to first Catholic high schools in this area, serve 800 central county boys and girls will be erected in Concord.

Construction on the $1.5 million project will begin next year, according to the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Nicholas P. Connolly, J.C.D., vicar of the Oakland Diocese.

The twin schools will be built on opposite ends of a 35-acre tract at Treat Lane and Oak Grove Road.

The Christian Brothers will teach the boys' school and the sisters of St. Joseph will staff the girls' school.

Although the schools will be within the parish of the Most Precious Blood Church, they will draw students from the entire central county area, Monsignor Connolly said. They will be the

After signing of faculty contracts this week, Christian Brothers provincial Brother Jerome, F.S.C., estimated that a staff of 20 brothers, augmented by lay teachers, would be necessary at the boys' school.

The sisters signed recently at their headquarters at Mount St. Mary's, Los Angeles, according to Monsignor Connolly.

Curriculum at the new schools will cover academic and business studies but no vocational or shop courses, Brother Jerome reported.

Enrollment will be drawn from a territory including Orinda to the west, Danville-San Ramon to the south, and the central Diablo area.

WHAT'S DOING

Howard Greenhalgh, your Telephone Manager in Orinda

Built-ins are very popular with home-owners these days. To go along with this modern trend, telephone people have designed a new "panel phone." The unit, recess mounted, fits neatly in the wall. One modern feature is the concealed cord reel. It pulls the cord back into the panel when not in use.

The panel phone is just now going into production. And while it seems an especially suitable space-saver for apartments and motels, we expect many folks will find it a very attractive built-in convenience for their own homes.

Winning free worms is a nice day's work for some lucky fish at the Bell Telephone Laboratories. The fish are part of an interesting telephone study on sound waves. And the worms are their reward for learning to react properly to certain sound waves beamed through the water.

Observing these performing fish is one unusual way in which telephone scientists are studying the basic mysteries of sound and its effects. Whatever they discover may well lead to more advanced communications devices for you.

Election day, November 6, is still a few weeks off. But it's not too early to make plans so you'll be sure to get to the polls. If you need transportation, now's the time to arrange with your friends for a ride. If small children keep you close to home, perhaps you can swap baby-sitting chores with a neighbor.

You can make these arrangements by phone . . . but that's not why I mention them. I just want to remind you that every vote is important. Be sure you cast yours November 6.

Russian Language—A Big Hit at Acalanes High

"When you have the talent, you should use it."

And this is probably the case in the Acalanes High School District—and the reason why Russian is now offered to all high school students in the district.

In the summer of 1960 it was learned that every school in the district had qualified Russian instructors available. So, trustees of the district decided to use the "talent" they had available.

This is the second year that Russian has been offered to students in the district.

Only two schools, however, (Las Lomas and Acalanes) have Russian classes at the present—and only Acalanes is enjoying "real success."

AT ACALANES there are almost 100 students taking Russian. This includes freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors. There are 51 first year students and 42 second year students.

At Las Lomas there are just 12 second year students of the 21 who started last year. There was not enough response to start a first year class this fall.

The same thing happened at the other district schools last year and again this year—not enough students are interested in studying Russian—so, no classes.

Ed Leach, principal of Las Lomas, said the school's Russian program really creates a "problem."

With a waiting list for the first year Spanish classes, Leach is forced to use a regular classroom a full period a day for the 12 students who are taking second year Russian.

Leach pointed out that there are 35 or 36 students in the Spanish, German and French classes and students are suffering because the Russian class is being used for just a half-classroom of students.

DON LUDOLPH, our German instructor, is a highly-qualified Russian teacher as well. Leach noted, but there just isn't the interest among our students.

However, the district's decision to offer Russian has brought great success at Acalanes and much enthusiasm among the students taking the course, according to teacher James Garvey, a former State Department employee.

Garvey had two classes with a total of 48 students last year and this year 42 are back for the second year.

With graduations and further drop-outs, Garvey plans on having "one good third year class back in 1963."

All languages offered in the district are planned as a four-year course.

THEREFORE, Garvey is not certain just how he will be affected by the advancing group of Russian students. At the present, he spends his mornings in the counseling office and the afternoons teaching his four Russian classes.

Garvey first came to Acalanes as a biology teacher in 1955. Because of his command of the German language, he soon began teaching it. Now, Russian and counseling take up his day at school.

Garvey's qualifications are well established.

One of the reasons that prompted the district to offer Russian to its students was because students were coming to Garvey for informal classes at the noon hour.

Garvey points to "sputnik" as the reason for the interest in Russian.

SEVERAL YEARS ago an enthusiastic science student asked Garvey for lessons in Russian because he said "he realized the need to know Russian in studying science papers later in life."

Garvey soon had 13 students in his lunch hour Russian classes with the OK of Acalanes principal Stanley Walgren. When the lunch hour was shortened the next year, the class was halted for lack of time.

Soon after the trustees of the district were approached in regard to offering Russian.

Trustees then decided that Russian had become "an important language of the modern world" and therefore should be offered.

The first classes were then offered in September, 1961.

Garvey himself became curious about the Russian language when he was in high school in San Francisco. At that time he sent to the state library for the one, lone copy of a Russian grammar book the library had.

At the University of California

nia he was one of nine students that signed up for the Russian class—and he recalls the professor was "overwhelmed" at the (high) number of students in the class.

When he entered the Army in World War II, Garvey was sent to a school to study German. After the war he entered the diplomatic service and was sent to Rumania where he continued to study Russian with the help of a refugee tutor.

THE STATE Department then sent Garvey to Harvard for further study of Russian. From Harvard he went to the United States Embassy staff in Moscow for two years. In 1953, Garvey gave up his career to return "home" and get married—a lucky break for students.

Garvey and his wife now live in Walnut Creek with their four children.

Garvey doesn't know the reason for the success of his Russian classes—or the reason it isn't clicking elsewhere in the district.

He claims the language isn't any harder to learn than the others offered, but that there are difficulties the students must overcome.

Most students who take Russian are "better than average" in their studies, claims Garvey. Many are science students and many are taking Russian as their second language.

Acalanes is one of approximately 80 schools in California that offers Russian. Garvey estimates that only 40 California school districts have the qualified personnel to teach it.

In the United States, approximately 10 per cent of the high schools offer Russian, Garvey estimated. "The Cal and Stanford influence has prompted a much higher percentage in the Bay Area," he said.

As far as teaching methods are concerned, Russian and the other languages are in the midst of a complete change in technique.

First year Russian students are learning the "Audio-Lingual" method... on which Garvey reported at a National Convention of Modern Languages, Slavic Division, last winter.

STUDENTS learn the language from records. They have 14 such records which are their homework for the first 10 weeks of the semester. Their job is to be able to say what the person on the record is saying when they come to school the next day.

Two days a week, they review their pronunciation in the "Language Laboratory."

The audio-lingual method, Garvey points out, drills the students in the practical use of the language. He, as an instructor, does not talk about grammar. The students pick it up as they learn the different phrases and sentences.

The students do not translate and no English is allowed to be used during class hour. Garvey claims that the new method helps people learn a language better—as a spoken language.

Drills on a series of Russian sentences is an everyday procedure in the teaching of the new method.

This is the modern approach to teaching foreign languages, Garvey points out, and soon all language classes will be taught with this new technique.

Garvey believes the Board of Trustees should be congratulated for "moving with the times" for, as he points out, it's not easy to introduce a new language in the school.

Garvey himself should be congratulated.

He was one of two high school teachers in the United States appointed to the Committee of Examiners, which reviews the achievement tests of the Educational Testing Service.

'Porky' Hamm, AP Photog, Retires

CARL MYDANS of Life magazine made this shot of "Porky" Hamm on the island of Bikini during preparations for A-bomb experiments in 1946. "The little fellow and I had something in common," said Hamm.

Clarence Hamm of Moraga, whose busy camera snapped everything from football to presidents and the action of two wars, retired recently after 28 years as an Associated Press photographer.

Hamm, 58, chose to retire because of a heart condition. He and his wife will continue to make their home at 340 Rheem Boulevard. They have a married daughter and a grandson.

KNOWN FAMILIARLY to his friends as "Porky"—a nickname he did not resent—Hamm joined the A.P. in Kansas City Sept. 12, 1934, after service with the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

He immediately distinguished himself with football action pictures. Within a year he was chief of the Kansas City Bureau described him as "the best news photographer in this region."

In 1936, Hamm covered both the Alf Landon and Franklin D. Roosevelt presidential campaign tours.

He recalls that he first met Frank J. Starzel, now general manager of the AP, on top of a box car in Columbus, Ohio.

STARZEL THEN was chief of the Columbus bureau. Hamm was on the box car to find a fresh camera angle on President Roosevelt.

"I had sent word to Columbus that I had run out of money," Hamm said. "Starzel chased me around the freight yard, caught up with me on the box car and handed me $300."

Transferred to San Francisco just before the 1941 outbreak of World War II, Hamm quickly was assigned to photograph the war in the Aleutian Islands, The Solomons, Makin, Saipan and elsewhere, as a pool cameraman, shooting for the entire U.S. press.

In 1946 he covered the atomic bomb tests at Bikini. When the Korean War broke out in 1950 he volunteered anew to cover a war, along with the Armistice negotiations and prisoner exchange which followed.

IN BETWEEN wars, Hamm photographed virtually every known variety of sports, the Truman-Dewey presidential campaign of 1948, the Eisenhower-Stevenson campaign of 1952, and the Republican convention of 1956.

An aggressive lensman, always seeking a point of vantage, he was several times knocked down by crowds shoving around a presidential candidate. Once he broke through the roof of a flimsy rural depot, but always came back for more.

Under fire frequently, Hamm was completely oblivious of any notion that he might be hit—and he never was.

As general manager, Starzel wrote in a farewell letter: "You were one of our ablest war correspondents and a dependable and solid performer wherever you were sent."

Fragley Retires After 44 Years With Phone Co.

A 44 year telephone career concluded recently with the retirement of Albert D. Fragley, Walnut Creek where he was at engineer.

Fragley started with Pacific Telephone in 1918 when he helped build the toll cable from San Francisco to Palo Alto. He was promoted to engineer in 1923 and served in this capacity city in San Francisco, Oakland and Richmond before moving to Walnut Creek where he was at the time of his retirement.

In 1954 Fragley was president of the East Bay Council of Telephone Pioneers and attended the National Pioneer convention in Minneapolis that year. After being life membership chairman of the George Ladd Chapter he became first president in 1959.

Bus Executive: Buses Not Transit Solution

Bus transportation cannot solve the Bay region's automobile congestion problem, C. M. Gilliss, executive director of the Los Angeles Metropolitan Transit Authority, told directors of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

"It is obvious that a rail rapid transit system must be developed here," he said. "If it's built later, out of sheer desperation, then it's going to cost a lot more money," he said.

GILLISS POINTED out that the LAMTA, which already operates the state's largest bus transit system—1700 buses—is planning a rail rapid transit system of its own because of the critical auto congestion problem that exists in Los Angeles.

"Buses cannot do the job alone," he said, because they also contribute to traffic congestion and are subject to the same delays as automobiles.

Gilliss said that national attention has been focused on the Bay Area's rapid transit plan.

"This is the first real test anywhere, of whether the people will face up to the massive metropolitan problem of auto congestion," he asserted.

"YOU CANNOT afford to build highways just to accommodate commuter traffic a few hours a day. The highways need help during commuter hours, and rapid transit is the only answer."

Gilliss, who formerly served as California's public works director and chairman of the State Highway Commission, emphasized that the present freeway construction program is based on the assumption that rapid transit will be operating throughout the Bay Area in the 1970s.

"Of course, this is nothing new," he said. "It was the official policy when I served as public works director, and it was the policy of my predecessor, Frank Durkee."

Only last week the same policy was reaffirmed by the state's present public works director, Robert B. Bradford, in a Berkeley speech endorsing the rapid transit proposal, Proposition "A."

GILLISS SAID the Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District and the San Francisco Municipal Railway, both of which are now operating bus transit lines in the Bay Area, would need many new buses to handle the increased patronage generated by the regional rail rapid transit system.

"I am impressed by the decision of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District to help plan feeder bus lines for the proposed system," he said.

"However, it would be a waste of time and money to make detailed plans for feeder bus lines at this time—since the planning would be obsolete unless you wait until after the rapid transit system is developed," he warned.

A Cry from Wilderness

A cry from the wilderness was heard last week in a local high school column (PH Ramblings) printed in The Sun. Columnist Pat Hurley lamented, "There's nothing left for teen-agers in our community to do weekends."

The Sun has said before and still feels that this problem has many facets, but one big step forward could be accomplished without long committee meetings and construction plans.

Needed in our communities in the central county are high school-sponsored teen dances for our youngsters after football, basketball and similar important Friday night games.

WITH SPONSORSHIP by the individual high schools in the area, such dances would become regular functions, not the laudable but irregular parent club-sponsored events of the past.

The reply of old is that there are league rulings forbidding such sponsorship by schools, but league rulings are the result of consultation and deliberation by high school authorities.

It is time for new deliberations and a fresh look at the problem and the solution involving active participation by the schools themselves.

Helpful are the events sponsored by the Walnut Creek Recreation Center, but this does not provide the answer for our central communities as a whole.

Parents club efforts are fine, but the parents have had difficulty maintaining a sustained effort so necessary in this matter.

AS OUR POPULATION grows, our teen population is growing even more in proportion to the total. The young parents who moved here a few years ago now find their children in high school and looking for wholesome recreation in the evening hours.

The nearest thing to evening recreation centers in most of our towns is provided by a few scattered hot dog and soft drink stands.

With the schools providing the organization, and the parents helping under such leadership, after-game dances could become a major wholesome activity for thousands of local young people in their formative years.

Our Liberties Would Suffer

Proposition 24, the "Francis Amendment," will be supported on November 6 by persons who feel that a strong-arm law is necessary to fight communism in California, and that the denial of our traditional civil liberties is the price we must pay.

The Sun feels that communism can be combatted effectively in California without Proposition 24, and that its passage by the voters would open the door to a new kind of McCarthyism in the field of public educational instruction.

Past experience in this country has proven that investigative groups such as would be unleashed by this new law would injure many innocent persons, both by notorious reputation and by loss of employment. This law by its words makes such an outcome certain.

THERE ARE many safeguards now against the communist subversion which we know exists in our state and other states. The Francis amendment would create more problems than it would solve, speaking from the standpoint of the purpose of our founding fathers and their Bill of Rights.

Both candidates for governor of California have placed themselves against the amendment, and most newspapers and many other groups also see the dangers to our traditional liberties.

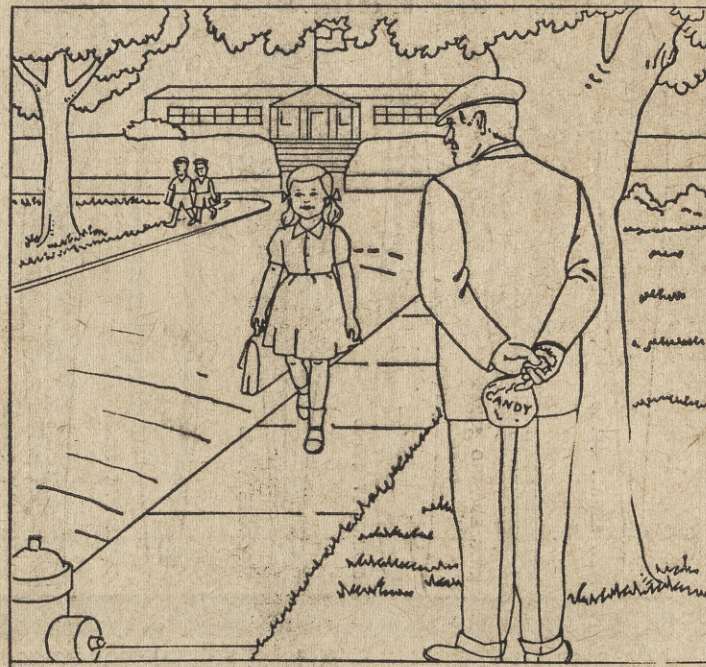

Section 7 of the amendment requires teachers and other employees of public educational institutions to answer congressional and legislative committee inquiries concerning membership in or support of communist or subversive organizations.

IT PROVIDES for loss of certificate and dismissal in the event of refusal.

Such a law, particularly in the field of teaching, would place in jeopardy any teachers whose views differed from those of the investigative group, fostering guilt by association and putting the fear of the powerful state into a group which must be able to examine all political and social facts without being the subject of witchhunts.

Letters to The Editor

TRANSIT

Dear Editor:

The letter on rapid transit from Mr. R. C. Steves in your October 5 issue requires comment and correction.

Since Mr. Steves is a resident of Lafayette, he would be able to utilize either the station at Reliez Valley Road or at Orinda, arriving at either of these stations by driving himself, being driven by another member of his family, in a car pool, or by feeder bus.

His travel time to a station by any of these means would, I am sure, be about the same as his present walk of one-third of a mile.

OUR TRAINS can achieve headways of every 90 seconds, thus assuring him of a very limited wait.

Once aboard rapid transit, his travel time to Market and Montgomery in San Francisco would be 24 minutes, or to Powell and Market in 25 minutes.

It is probable that this central delivery will place him much nearer his office than his present mode of transportation.

In other words, rapid transit will mean a time savings of from 25 to 38 minutes each way, or about one hour a day for the round trip, or about 10 full 24-hour days for a 50-week work year.

FOR THIS significant savings in travel time, Mr. Steves will pay a one-way fare of 60c, or $6 a week, or $24 for a four-week month. The cost will not be $48.40 a month as stated by Mr. Steves.

In assessing the worth of rapid transit, it is up to Mr. Steves and to those other relatively few Contra Costans whose work schedules permit them to ride present public transportation to determine: (1) the value of their own time, and (2) whether they can be guaranteed that the present fare structure on Greyhound will be in effect one, two, five or 10 years from now.

BALDWIN

Dear Editor,

Your column of Friday, October 5, in which you recommend John Baldwin, includes at least one non sequitur.

You say: "His voting record is amazing—he has never missed a roll call in all the years he has served. Sometimes the Democrats poke fun at this statement. But it certainly answers the one campaign charge they emphasize—that Baldwin is not cognizant of international affairs."

How can a record of never having missed a roll call substantiate a claim that one has knowledge of international affairs?

Would you allege that if one has never been tardy, nor missed a day of school, one is well-educated, or an "A" student?

I'm sure that Baldwin would agree that one does not become expert in international affairs by listening to a droning clerk call the roll.

And mere presence at roll call does not, per se, mean that one has listened to the speeches, heard the discussion, or carefully studied every available bit of evidence.

We Like It Here... An Old-Fashioned Dose Of Sulphur & Molasses

By MARIE MONAHAN

MAYBE what our country needs is a good old-fashioned dose of Sulphur & Molasses.

Like the bitter-tasting kind that Grandma administered from the end of a big soup spoon every spring.

From all indications, the public is very sick of the whole sick-sick scene. A rash of recent articles point the need to be purged from the poison being fed us on a tarnished silver spoon.

ARE YOU, for one, sick of the Status Symbols, the Status Seekers, the business jungle, the Conformists & Climbers, the Negatives & the Namby-Pambies . . . & the reference to our way of life as "The Rat Race"?

Are you (me, too) sick of the emphasis on Sex & Violence via our movies, newspapers, television & at the point of absolute nausea, pleading for more privacy in the good old-fashioned sense? Is NOTHING sacred any more?

DO YOU regurgitate when you read the pap published by lofty columnists who fill a whole column with sick lines about famed folk or false idols & aren't you ashamed & embarrassed when a TV audience boos or guffaws our own gubernatorial candidates as per that recent debate?

DO YOU CRINGE at copy lambasting the leaders of our country & remember back to your own father's teachings—to respect whatever administration was running the country? Do you know people who went out of their way for World Series tickets—but who might not make it to the polls next month?

ARE YOU fed to the teeth with the "My Father Can Kick Your Father" attitude re: the childish Moon Race . . . & wouldn't it be better to spend those millions to feed all the hungry peoples of the earth?

Do you wonder what happened to good old-fashioned laughter like the kind W. C. Fields gave us . . . or Will Rogers? Have we traded in a hearty belly-laugh for a false facade, a smirk, a stupid sensitivity that makes us afraid to laugh at what rings real & true & honest?

ARE YOU weary of the war between school & parent & the Race To College for everybody's son? Do you long to get back to the Little Red Schoolhouse (Yes, red, I said, like with white steeple & black iron bell) where a child can enjoy childhood, a parent parenthood & a teacher stands tall & proud on a pedestal.

I'M SICK of pseudo-art, the fashioning of beer cans & junk into "sculpture," the paintings that aren't paintings at all but merely a fad of bad & mad smears, the so-called "best-seller" fiction & beatnik prose, the Anything Goes (as long as it's Sex attitude & wonder will any Rembrandts, Leonardos or Ralph Waldos emerge from this kind of crackpot culture that hardly serves to inspire young people of today?

WE WONDER at the worship of Croesus that turns sylvan hill-sides into matchbox subdivisions, every corner into a gas station & a man without a conscience into Mr. Fast-bucks Millionaire . . . or burdens the Smiths with credit-card buying to keep up with the Joneses who can't even keep up with themselves . . .

I'M SICK of the sick-sick cards, the cocktail party circuit, the suggestive songs that record companies exploit our young people with by telling them the discs are #1 at the top of the record tunes.

I'M TIRED of the treadmill of Togetherness which is only a crowded calendar geared to tear a family apart & I wish children's parties were still for Post Office, playing Wink & Spin The Bottle instead of miniature people trying to mimic their adults.

I still cry at weddings (You, too?), even MORE over divorces these days & feel like swift-kicking the slow-risers to the salute of the flag, the Star Spangled Banner . . .

METHINKS, as I sit here in the rain, sheltered, warm & well-fed, that we're starved for the simple things & that we're all reaching for a renaissance, a kind of re-birth of the basic fundamentals.

Grandma's got us cornered with her spoon. Are you read? Willing & able, open wide!

Mailed Any Packages Lately?

By GEORGE COLBURN

I usually think of myself as a nice guy. My wife, mother, dad and brothers all think I'm OK.

I don't try to make trouble for anyone. I try to get along with everybody, but of course, that's pretty much impossible. However, for the most part, I like people and they like me (I hope).

The Sun is a nice, pleasant, local, community newspaper designed to tell local residents just what's going on in local communities only. Scandals aren't our forte and neither is slander, dirt-throwing, mud-slinging, etc.

BUT I'VE got a gripe. And, it's local although there are implications all the way back to the White House.

No doubt most of you have read (or heard) that the cost of mailing letters is going up—again. I'm "just a kid" and I remember the penny postcard—now it's four cents—and I'm less than a quarter century old!

The vast majority of Senate and House members voted for the bill—and for pay increases for 1.6 million federal workers (600,000 postal workers) which will cost more than a billion dollars.

NOW, I'M not one to want to waste a billion dollars (no connection with any rapid transit proposals), but are the postal employees really worth it?

Kennedy stated (with pen in hand) that the "higher pay scales should attract more capable workers."

So, we can assume the above quote about more capable workers refers to postal employees also.

We certainly hope so!

My wife has been very unhappy lately (and she's a local resident—so, it's news here) and I tend to agree with her despite a certain lack of her emotionalism.

WE HAVE had occasion to receive five packages (presently) lately and everyone will agree, it's always nice to receive goodies.

Much to our amazement every package had been damaged—and three were damaged so badly the contents are not usable (and they were very nice).

Four of the packages were stamped "Arrived in damaged condition."

The fifth package offered no such explanation. On the first four, the blame was placed on some "ghost workers" who handled the packages somewhere in the "great beyond." It's certain that the "guilty parties" would not note their negligence, clumsiness or what have you. No, they send it on the destination and hope that the receiver is too busy to care.

(One package came from a large department store's mailing department, another from a large book firm's mailing department and a third came a distance of 30 miles!)

And that brings me to another point. Have you ever tried to collect insurance on a damaged package?

IF YOU'RE real lucky, a courteous, if non-informed, postal employee, will tell you to write the sender and "see what they can do at that end." The receiving post office who can see with their own eyes the damaged condition of the package and has had the nerve to deliver the crushed box to your door, "has nothing to do with insuring the package."

I don't know what the senders in my case will run into when they try to collect the "insurance." They'll probably want "evidence" because without it a great racket could be hatched, I would assume. (e.g., I bring in an empty package, take out insurance, mail it to an accomplice, yell that it arrived damaged and collect my insurance—I'm sure the postal cops wouldn't allow such a loophole.)

I have kept my damaged packages as evidence—and every one of the million pieces of glass in one box—in case evidence is required. But, how silly! It would mean mailing two of the damaged packages back across the country—some 2500 miles.

I'm not mad at anybody, I love my neighbor, etc.

BUT, JUST remember: Letter, 5c; air mail, 8c; postcard, 4c, and pay raises of 11.2 per cent for 600,000 postal employees.

They said a certain young man was offering postmaster jobs as bait in a primary election in some state back east.

I guess this is just the way a democracy is run—"for better, for worse, 'til death us do part."

Under The Sun How Will You Vote? Anderson vs. Knox?

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

Two weeks ago The Sun endorsed John Baldwin, republican, for reelection to congress.

And then the roof fell in. Letters poured in from angry democrats, accusing us of everything under the sun. The very same day a republican woman accused us of leaving one of their stories out of The Sun, "because you don't like republicans."

We learned a long time ago that a newspaper can't win. The democrats get mad at us; the republicans are unhappy with us. This is probably the way it should be.

Look at the assembly race

For whom are you going to vote for assemblyman?

Let's today look at the new Eleventh Assembly District—Lafayette, Orinda, Moraga which has been added to the former Eleventh District—Richmond, El Cerrito, San Pablo, etc.

You'll recall that the legislature re-districted the state and our predominantly republican area was grafted to the heavily democratic Richmond area. The republicans say this was done to nullify our republican majority; the democrats say it was geographically necessary since we adjoined the Richmond area.

Incumbent assemblyman for the Eleventh is John Knox, democrat. He is a resident of Richmond, with his law offices in that city. Knox is young, aggressive, a very active "party man." (Democrat party, that is; not a gay blade.) Sacramento newsmen consider him an effective freshman assemblyman. (He replaced Masterson in the assembly, when the latter was appointed superior court judge.)

Now meet John Anderson

And in the opposite corner is the challenger—John Anderson, republican. He has lived in Orinda since March, 1952; active GOP worker, for 10 years, and a YMCA leader for 15 years. Anderson graduated as an industrial engineer. He was production supervisor for Cutter Laboratories for seven years, followed by a similar period as a sales representative for the Pfizer Laboratories, famous drug firm. He is with them now.

Some of his supporters point to his "Abe Lincoln" qualities. He certainly has that long, lanky Lincoln look. He is sincere and hard working. He speaks well, has definite ideas on certain subjects (narcotics, welfare state, taxes, etc.).

Anderson obtained permission from his employer to enter the campaign, working part-time. He will take a leave of absence to attend sessions of the legislature, if elected.

Anderson declares:

Anderson firmly believes that John Knox "is an ultra-liberal and should not be in the office." Knox is not well known in our area and could be defeated, Anderson says.

"County democrats will cross over party lines to vote for Congressman Baldwin. I'm next on the ballot. If there isn't a heavy democrat vote," he continues, "I could win."

Anderson and his supporters vigorously condemn Knox's voting record as "far, far to the left."

Record criticized

"Knox was one of only eight who voted against Assembly Bill 1559 which provides a way of closing loopholes in the state law to prevent subversive organizations from using public school rooms to hold their meetings," Anderson declared.

He points out that Knox opposed tightening of narcotics and obscene literature laws, that Knox always votes for welfare state measures, which increase taxes, that Knox "voted against all 15 proposals of the Peace Officers Association."

Anderson's supporters claim the republicans and democrats alike in this area should support him because he lives here and that Knox is completely foreign to the problems of Central Contra Costa County.

Knox stands pat on his record, argues that civil liberties must be preserved, that some anti-narcotics and law enforcement bills do more harm than good, that we cannot turn our backs on the welfare needs of the people.

With the tremendous voting strength of Richmond area, Knox is confident of victory. (He will probably win.)

Question mark????

Knox's supporters point out that Anderson is completely unknown; his ability and qualifications have not been demonstrated. They argue that, even on the local level in Orinda, Anderson has not actively participated in community affairs. On the county-wide level, he has done nothing. He has not been a leader or an aggressive force in his own community, the district, the county, or even his party, according to Knox supporters.

They insist he is running because no one else could be persuaded to enter the race, that he is completely unqualified, that he can only criticize, never having done anything himself. They argue that Knox is a respected, aggressive member of the democrat team in the legislature, has already earned some seniority, can do much more for the district.

They declare that Knox's home and office is only a few minutes from Orinda and Lafayette, that geography is not important.

How about you?

Who will vote for whom?

The dedicated republican will certainly vote for Anderson; the unwavering democrat will vote for Knox.

The independent voter? The undecided voter? Some will vote their political leanings—Anderson for conservative representation, Knox for liberal. Others will decide on economic basis—which man will best represent their pocketbook. Others will vote for Anderson because he is a local resident. Others will vote for Knox because he is a relatively experienced incumbent.

For a first-hand knowledge of these candidates (and others), come to The Sun Candidates Debate, Thursday, November 1, at the Acalanes Gym. There's nothing like seeing candidates in person to help you decide.

Quite a 'Posh Bash' Is Set for All Muir Guilds

The dome of the Claremont Hotel's roof, rather than the dome of the sky, will be spangled with the stars on November 30 for this year's "Evening Under the Stars," the big party held by the John Muir Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

Fearing the fickle weatherman, members of the Muir Auxiliary vowed "Never again," after last year's elaborate outdoor planning for "Evening Under the Stars" was washed out with an untimely September deluge.

The glitter and pomp is to be intensified in an indoor setting for this fourth annual "Evening" with the crystal glint of a wintry sky as a motif.

There will be bouquets of stars, glittering branches, gleaming "snow", 10-foot stars suspended, thousands of plexiglas icicles, spiky and glistening... and the charity award is a dinner ring with diamonds totaling a carat.

There will be cocktails, dinner and dancing to the music of Del Courtney and his orchestra. "Evening" begins at 8.

Developing the plans are these chairmen, who met last week at the home of general chairman Mrs. Howard Baughman of Lafayette for coffee and co-operation:

Secretary, Mrs. Thomas Van Voorhis; decorations, the Mesdames John M. Kauffman and Robert Grieve; tickets and invitations, Mrs. R. B. Irvine; table reservations, Mrs. Harold Morris.

Arrangements, Mrs. Keith Fitch; finances, Mrs. William DuBose; charity awards, the Mesdames Joel Luhn and Raymond C. Hansen; hospitality and favors, Mrs. Irving C. Fine; invitation design and printing, Mrs. John Swinson; tickets, Mrs. Gene Pleau and publicity, Mrs. Frank E. Thomas.

All of the auxiliary's fund-raising endeavors are for the purpose of augmenting the John Muir Memorial Hospital's building fund. Supporters of the hospital will soon see their dreams realized—for actual building of the 4½-million dollar institution is slated to begin in March. The site is on Ygnacio Valley Road in Walnut Creek.

"Evening Under the Stars" is an all-guild benefit, and reservations are by invitation only.

Boyhood Friends Take Hawaiian Cruise

A Lafayette couple, along with four other couples from the Bay Area, proved that boyhood friends do stick together.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Swanson of Lafayette sailed Tuesday aboard the Matson liner Lurline to Hawaii. With them were four other couples. The men had met as youngsters, 40 years ago, at Jefferson Grammar School, San Francisco.

The men were cub scouts together and went through high school. They formed the "Sunset Ramblers," who often gathered for football scrimmages.

AFTER A CARIBBEAN honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. John Bohn Jr., (Barbara Neukom) will make their home in Cambridge, Mass. The groom is attending Harvard Law School and is a member of Lincoln's Inn. He is the son of the John Bohns, longtime Lafayette residents who moved to Piedmont last year. Young Bohn attended Lafayette grammar school, graduated from Acalanes High School and Stanford University, where he was student body president. The nuptials were at 4 p.m. recently in the Congregational Church, San Mateo.

Valleymont Has Luau at Hurd Home

Valleymont Auxiliary to the Booth Memorial Home and Hospital of the Salvation Army held a fund raising luau at the Arthur Hurd's lovely Lafayette home recently.

Sixty people came to enjoy the beautiful warm summer Saturday evening around the pretty pool, decorated with floating candles and flowers.

Torch lights glowed showing the lovely garden and exterior decorations. The garage was completely decorated and carpeted for the delicious, traditional sit-down luau.

Thanks to Trader Vic's and a marvelous decorating committee the garage was enchanting... and set the mood for the marvelously successful party, according to Mrs. C. O. Berggren, publicity chairman.

This was the first official function held under the new president, Mrs. D. (Janet) Walker.

Regular monthly meeting will be held Tuesday at Mrs. K. (Pug) Johnson's home in Walnut Creek.

The main business to be decided upon is our contribution to the annual bazaar. This year the bazaar will be held at the Lakeside Garden Club at Lake Merritt in Oakland on October 31. The public is invited from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. with lunch being served starting at 11 a.m. "A very good time to start Christmas shopping so please come and we are certain you will have an enjoyable and profitable time," according to Mrs. Walker.

Delta Zetas Have Party

The patio of the lovely Lake-wood Circle home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kelleway in Walnut Creek was the setting of the recent Saturday night barbecue for the members of the Mt. Diablo Alumni of Delta Zeta and their husbands.

Chatting on the upper terrace were Janet and Carl Dollar, Betty and Jack McIntyre, Olga Skane, Darlyne and Bryant King, and Ted and Mary Storey.

By the waterfall on the patio were Barbara and Bill Smith, Bruce and Helen Herbert, Bronwyn and Karl Heuer, Ithara and John Riner, Ken and Emily Fordyce, and Charlie and Marge Bishop.

The Herberts co-hosted the annual affair with the Kelleways.

Prep Football...

San Ramon on the Move With Arthur and Husted

By HEC HANCOCK

As San Ramon has exploded for three victories in its first three Foothill Athletic League outings, there are, of course, many reasons that have contributed to their success.

Football is a team sport, and essentially requires a team effort if anything is to be accomplished.

However, a team effort is a collection of performances by individuals, and as with any other activity, key individuals are invariably going to stand out.

Certainly, such is the case in the San Ramon picture.

Mr. Offense could be none other than halfback Lincoln Arthur. And if Lincoln has dominated the backfield scene, tackle and Capt. Chuck Husted has to be big man in the San Ramon forward wall.

Arthur, in his first four games, racked up the fantastic total of 10 touchdowns. Four of these came in the opener against the always tough Livermore Cowboys.

Against the highly touted Antioch Panthers, he was able to score but once, the only score San Ramon made. At this point in the season, Arthur had personally scored every Wolfpack six pointer.

In the league victories over Alhambra and Del Valle he has racked up five more scores despite being shut out by Acalanes.

This is the first year the 5-6, 155-pound package of compressed energy has played first string. A senior, Arthur had played behind All-League Mike Mivalze previously.

Making up for lost time, Arthur has used his speed to full advantage. A trackman during the spring, he has run the 100 yard dash in the respectable time of 10.2 and the 220 in 23 seconds flat.

Lincoln is described by the San Ramon coaching staff as being a "late bloomer." He didn't really find himself until coming into his senior year.

Lincoln plans to go on to college, and currently favors Utah State. As far as a major, he is torn between physical education and U.S. History. In either event, Lincoln hopes to eventually teach.

Capt. Husted, All League tackle in his junior year, has shown no reason whatsoever why he shouldn't repeat.

Chuck stands at six feet and weighs 200 pounds. He's a stand-out on both offense and defense.

On defense he's tough. He reacts well, and fights to hang in there and make the eventual tackle. An excellent blocker, he can also go and make the downfield block.

A close observer of the San Ramon football picture sums up the feelings of many of the San Ramon fans as follows: "Chuck has all the attributes to make a huge success in college football. He has good size, excellent co-ordination, and the initiative and determination to get the job done. Chuck has the other ingredient so necessary in today's football picture—intelligence. You'll hear from Chuck when he plays college ball."

Chuck is undecided as to what his plans are after he graduates from San Ramon in June. He has given some thought to applying for entrance to the Air Force Academy. He is also considering a career at UC, Davis. With better than a 3.5 grade average, he shouldn't find any doors closed to him.

Chuck has had a well rounded high school career. In addition to his football participation, he has been on the wrestling team for the past two years. Last year he won the FAL 191-pound class and went to the North Coast tournament. He's looking forward to his last year of wrestling competition this winter.

He's the president of the Block SR Club, and by virtue of that office is also on the Student Council.

As far as Arthur is concerned the touchdowns against Livermore and Del Valle have given him the biggest "charge" he has had in football. To Chuck, making the All FAL team as a junior was as big a thrill as he has experienced so far.

Both young men without saying so, feel that their San Ramon club can go all the way this year. Lincoln feels that all the remaining teams will be real tough. Mustard concurs, pointing out that Miramonte, Piedmont, Las Lomas, have all got to be figured in contention (San Ramon's last three opponents).

Undoubtedly these teams will be tough, it could well be that San Ramon falls short in their title bid.

But win or lose, San Ramon has two big men in its favor—namely, Mr. Offense, Lincoln Arthur, and Mr. Defense, Chuck Husted.

Former Las Lomas High School athlete Bill Whipple is a member of Fresno State College's 1962 water polo team.

Whipple, making his water polo debut, is battling another newcomer, San Mateo JC transfer, Dave McClure, for a starting guard position. He is also being counted on for one of the distance swimming spots on the 1963 FSC swimming team. Before coming to Fresno State, Whipple was swimming team captain and most valuable swimmer at Las Lomas. He also attended Diablo Valley College.

A 20-year-old sophomore psychology major, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Whipple, 188 Miramonte Road, Walnut Creek.

Trojans Crush Alhambra

By DAVE ANDERSON

The Del Valle Trojans finally got back on the winning track as they captured their first win in the Foothill League last Monday, dumping the Alhambra Bulldogs, 32-7.

The Trojans had dropped two straight games prior to last Monday's win, but they conquered the Bulldogs in convincing style.

Just too many horses was the story as Del Valle produced a strong running and passing punch that was too tough to beat. Del Valle draws a bye this evening.

The Las Lomas turf was still a bit soggy from the weekend storm, but the playing conditions didn't seem to slow down the play as the scoring indicates.

On the third play of the game, Del Valle quarterback, Bob Kovats, hit Bill O'Toole on a pass right up the middle and he raced to the 12-yard line before he was brought down.

FIVE PLAYS later, right half Cliff Schroeder bulled over the goal line for the six points. Jim Christman converted on a run up the middle.

Del Valle struck quickly again as Alhambra had to give up the ball on downs.

On the first play of the series, Schroeder cut inside left end and, with good blocking, outran everyone for an 80-yard touchdown. Christman again converted.

Alhambra, by no means awed by the Trojan speed, came right back to the attack.

From the 23-yard line, sophomore quarterback Paul Waite fired a perfect strike to halfback John Tomkins who was in the clear at the 500. A determined Christman brought Tomkins down on the one-yard line after a 76-yard pass play.

Bob Ball punched over for the touchdown on the next play, and Carroll France split the uprights for the PAT.

Del Valle reciprocated with a 67-yard scoring march in 13 plays.

GRINDING it out on the ground, Kovats conducted the Trojans to the two-yard line where Mal Cameron scored. The conversion try was unsuccessful.

In the second half, Del Valle scored immediately after Vic Schellenburg recovered an Alhambra fumble on the Bulldog 21. Schroeder went right up the middle on the next play for the touchdown.

With the score 26-7, the Trojan regulars were given a breather. Then late in the fourth quarter, Christman skirted left end, from the Alhambra 47, for a beautiful 46-yard gain to the Bulldog one-yard line. He went over on the next play for the touchdown for the final score.

Coach Jerry Bellon of Del Valle was very pleased with the ball game, and singled out full-back Christman for a tremendous ball game.

The junior letterman sparked on both defense and offense as he recovered a fumble, intercepted a pass, and scored a touchdown, and two conversions. Schroeder showed his running form to good advantage as he scored three touchdowns, the big one, of course, from 80 yards out.

Orindans Play For New Mexico Military '11'

Greg DeWitt and Steve Miller, both of Orinda, are on the football roster of the New Mexico Military Institute this fall.

The institute combines both high school and junior college students.

Its football team plays a nine-game schedule against college freshman teams and junior colleges.

The institute is located in Roswell, New Mexico.

DeWitt is listed on the team as a guard-tackle. Miller is listed as an end.

Rams & Eagles Tonight at PH; CP Seeks Upset

As the Contra Costa Division-DVAL goes into the third round of play this weekend, two pre-season dark horses, Antioch and Pacifica, are currently leading the pack.

Antioch, with a perfect record of three victories and no defeats, is in first place, followed closely by Pacifica, who has only a tie with Pittsburg to mar their record.

As league action resumes this week, the Pleasant Hill Rams will be seeking their initial league victory as they tangle with the Clayton Valley Eagles.

College Park will attempt to prove a stumbling block for the charged-up Pacifica Spartans in a game to be played at Pittsburg.

OTHER LEAGUE action finds the league-leading Panthers tangle with the Pittsburg Pirates, defending champs, whose league record to date consists of two ties.

Pleasant Hill's main task as they prepare for the Eagles is to regroup their offense to compensate for the loss of their All-League quarterback, Nelson Shelton, who is out for the season as a result of a broken leg suffered in practice last week.

While replacements for players of Shelton's stature just aren't to be found, the situation isn't nearly as dismal as it first appeared.

John Dotson, a junior, was pressed into service last week against Pacifica and came through with a great performance, everything considered.

In addition, Coach Hal Briggs plans to alter his offense to some extent, with the fleet Ram halfbacks, Dave Clark and Vic Mann, shouldering more of the responsibilities of the attack.

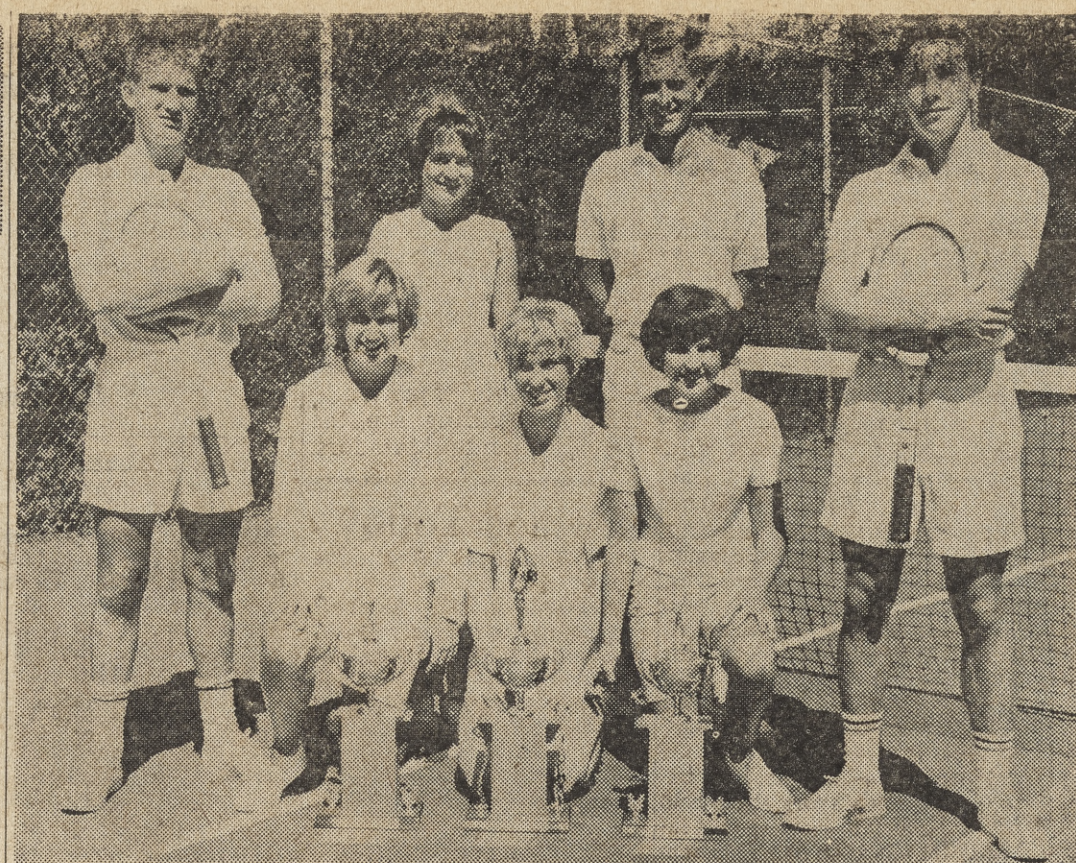

CLAYTON VALLEY has been hamstrung by injuries during the season thus far.

Greg Ford, their outstanding fullback, has been sidelined most of the year with a bad knee. How much he will be able to go this evening can't be determined at this point.

However, Coach Pat Murphy has a young club that appears to be developing. After taking their lumps in a tough pre-season schedule, the Eagles opened their CCD campaign last Monday, battling the Pitt Pirates to a 0-0 tie. They narrowly missed victory, when two field goal attempts by Clyde Mashore just missed.

College Park, playing the highly rated Antioch Panthers to a standstill before succumbing, gets another toughie this week, as they travel to Pittsburg for a contest this evening with the fired-up Spartans.

THE FALCON combination of Tim Ryan and Dick Larscheid, which has handled most of the running, will be augmented by the passing of Brian Hunt. Hunt in recent games has definitely opened up the Falcons' aerial game.

IT WAS ORINDA in every department this summer in the Contra Costa Junior Tennis League. The team, sponsored by the Orinda Country Club and coached by club pro Kevin Merrick (rear, second from right), swept top honors in the girls' and boys' divisions and the combination point total gave them the over-all title. Displayed on the courts at the country club are the three team trophies. Team members are: Mike Gilmore (standing, left to right), Terry Epperson, coach Merrick and Bob Martin. The young ladies kneeling are, left to right: Lislie Abbes, Linda Bergen and Denise Meyer. Judy Hopkins (not shown) assisted with the coaching of the girls' team. All four girls in the picture were undefeated. Gilmore and Martin were two of the outstanding members of the boys' team.

John Keller on Whittier Frosh

John Keller, June graduate of Stagg High, was among the 30 men welcomed by Whittier College freshmen football coach Jerry Gregg to this year's line-up.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Keller, 673 Jennie Court, Lafayette.

Keller, 6-0 and 195 pounds, who plans to major in political science, will play at the end spot.

DVC Hosts Chabot JC

Diablo Valley College will meet Chabot College tomorrow Wednesday night, November 21, tomorrow at 8 p.m. on the Pleasant Hill High School football field in the Vikings' second scheduled league game of the season.

Chabot, a two-year-old college and the smallest school represented in this year's Golden Gate Conference, is playing its first season of football.

Last Saturday the Vikings' scheduled game with Foothill College was canceled because of rain and rescheduled for Wednesday night, November 21. It will be played on the Pleasant Hill High School field.

Las Lomas - Miramonte Play Key FAL Game

Piedmont Eyes Upset at San Ramon in 'Crucial'

By HEC HANCOCK

Having survived "Operation Washout" last weekend, the Foothill Athletic League prepares to resume competition this evening with a full slate of action.

Still undefeated and sharing top billing are the San Ramon Wolfpack and the Miramonte Matadors.

However, San Ramon has one more win than the Mats by virtue of having played its rained-out encounter with Acalanes, and emerging with a 14-13 decision.

The Miramonte-Piedmont affair has been rescheduled for November 16.

On tap for this evening, San Ramon hosts the Piedmont Highlanders at Danville.

Las Lomas will invade the Miramonte Matadors stronghold for an afternoon encounter. Acalanes travels to Martinez to tangle with the Alhambra Bulldogs. Del Valle is excused from the evening's action with a bye.

THE RESURGENT Knights are hoping to resume where they left off two weeks ago against Piedmont, as they prepare for the Miramonte game.

The Knight offense which has suddenly began to jell should undergo further improvement as Bob Krieder is available for full-time activity, having been sidelined with injuries.

A big factor in the new Knight attack has been the running of halfback John Allen. If he can play back to his performance against the Highlanders, he will definitely add considerable punch to the Knight attack.

Mike McGinnis, Knight quarterback, has gradually adjusted to the job, and revealed a new halfback and Chuck Ferreria at quarterback.

Chuck Husted, aided by such stalwarts as Bob Crutcher and Rich Lucas, will be endeavoring to contain the Highlander offense.

The highly regarded Piedmont Highlanders, still looking for their initial FAL victory, should be "up" for the contest.

RANKING FROM their upset defeat at the hands of Las Lomas in their first league outing, the Highlanders will in turn be attempting to throw a road block in front of the San Ramon's title aspirations.

As a result of the layoff last week due to the big storm, the Highlanders have played only one game in three weeks. In their game with Las Lomas, they seemed to have lost the momentum that saw them upset a strong Hayward club earlier.

Now, Coach Bob Muenster is hoping to turn the layoff to his advantage.

Steve Lawyer, Piedmont quarterback, has shown steady progress in his first year as a regular at the position. Tom Williamson, at halfback, presents a distinct threat to go all the way at any given moment.

Acalanes will be favored to win their first FAL game as they take on the Alhambra Bulldogs.

THE DONS continue to improve, as evidence their near upset earlier this week of San Ramon. Tom Alexander, since taking over at quarterback, has given the club fine leadership.

Mike Hallock at fullback has developed into a good fullback, providing the Dons with punch up the middle. Assisting with the running chores is Bob Brabant.

Bob Seifker, with the re-birth of the Acalanes aerial game, has shown himself to be a fine receiver.

The Don front wall is of proven quality. Jeff Davis, Pat Little, Dave Perry, Dick Holden, Dick Van Loben Sels and Mark Mahler have been tough all season long.

The Alhambra Bulldogs are also still endeavoring to break in the win column.

Alhambra has been tough for all opponents, particularly in the first half. As an example they were tied with league leading San Ramon at the half before running out of gas.

Mats Lead FAL In Cross Country With 3 Wins

All Foothill League cross-country races were rained out last week.

Yesterday, Las Lomas was at Alhambra, Acalanes at Miramonte and Piedmont at San Ramon.

Miramonte and Del Valle are tied for the league lead with three straight wins.

Acalanes has a 2-0 record.

Miramonte 3 0

Del Valle 3 0

Acalanes 2 0

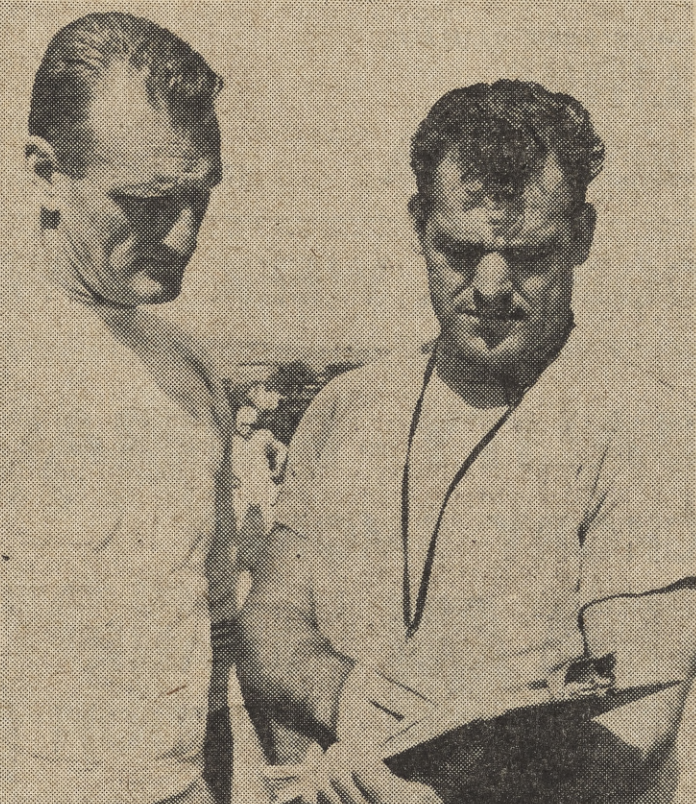

San Ramon 1 1

Piedmont 0 2

Mats, Knights Clash...

A BIG GAME for Miramonte High School's new head football coach, George Galli (right), is this afternoon in Orinda. The Mats, undefeated in four games over all, must win to stay in a virtual tie for the Foothill League lead. With Galli is Jim Phillips, assistant football coach and Miramonte athletic director. ## Pacifica Edges Pleasant Hill, 19-13; Antioch Outlasts College Park, 9-0

The Pleasant Hill Rams, hoping to reorganize their offense after the staggering loss of their ace passer, Nelson Shelton, for the season, run up against the tough Clayton Valley Eagles this evening at Pleasant Hill.

College Park, sandbagged last Friday night by league-leading Antioch, 9-0, tangle with the undefeated Pacifica Spartans tonight at Pittsburg.

In other Contra Costa-DVAL action, Pittsburg and Clayton Valley tugged and pulled for naught in a 0-0 tie.

Staggered by the loss of Shelton, who suffered a broken leg in practice, the Rams went down to defeat Monday night at the hands of the Pacifica Spartans, 19-13.

PACIFICA got on the scoreboard in the first quarter with a pass from Spartan quarterback Andy Rivera to Gary Boswell, capping a 45-yard drive in five plays.

John Dotson, Ram quarterback, in his first starting role, turned in an excellent game.

Continuing to feature an aerial game, Dotson found Dave Clark in the end zone for the six-point try for PAT was good, putting the Rams ahead 7-6 at the end of the first quarter.

The Spartans bounced back in the second quarter, to go ahead again, this time for keeps. Rivera scored on a 10-yard burst. A 30-yard pass from Rivera to Bill Woolsey set up the score.

Ken Tate, in the fourth quarter, gave the Spartans their margin of victory when he rambled 32 yards to the end zone with a recovered fumble.

Dotson retaliated with a 21-yard scoring jaunt to keep the Rams in contention.

THE RAMS recovered a Spartan fumble on their own 28-yard line.

Combining the passing of Dotson and the running of Clark, the Rams moved deep into Pacifica territory.

With a minute and 15 seconds left in the game, the Rams had a first down on the Spartan five-yard line. Here, Clark fumbled as he slammed into the Spartan line, Pacifica recovering. At Antioch, College Park fell before the determined Antioch title bid.

The game was played in a driving rain that canceled out any sustained offensive effort.

Ron Edwards of the Panthers slithered in for a touchdown in the final quarter for Antioch after Ron Miller had kicked a 15-yard field goal in the third period.

The College Park Falcons mounted only one serious scoring threat, moving to the Panther 20-yard line.

Here a Brian Hunt pass was knocked down to thwart the drive.

Sun Staff Picks Wolves, Mats to Keep On Winning

There are two "big games" in the Foothill League tonight to highlight play.

Miramonte, completely washed out last week, will be seeking win No. 3 in league play this afternoon at 3:30 in Orinda. Out to halt the Matadors' streak at four wins (including two non-league victories) will be Las Lomas, defending FAL champions, who have one win and a tie in league play.

The other big game will be played this evening in Danville where San Ramon will host Piedmont.

THE WOLVES are 3-0 in league play, Piedmont is 0-1. The Clan, expected to be a real threat for the league title, was upset by Las Lomas in its only league game and face elimination tonight with another loss.

The Sun's staff of "experts" is going all the way with Miramonte, 5-0. Everyone expects a close battle down the wire, however.

Likewise, all five members of the staff are sticking with San Ramon. Again, all think it will be close with the home field being a definite advantage for the Wolves.

Sports Editor George Colburn, who picked St. Louis over Washington (it ended in a tie) last week, picks the New York Giants to upset the Detroit Lions, 21-17, as his weekly "wild card" choice. Colburn has a 1-3-1 record for the year to date. He hasn't had a winner for three weeks.

THE CONSENSUS (29-14-5) choices for this week's top games:

Miramonte over Las Lomas (5-0) — The Mats will have a tough job.

San Ramon over Piedmont (5-0) — The first of three rough ones for the Wolves.

Acalanes over Alhambra (5-0) — The Dons have had a rough time this year.

Pacifica over College Park (5-0) — The Spartans are a big surprise.

Pleasant Hill over Clayton Valley (4-1) — Both teams have been hit by injuries.

DVC over Chabot (4-1) — The Vikings are a little stronger.

Washington over Stanford (5-0) — The Indians' win over Michigan State was a fluke.

Southern Cal over Cal (5-0) — The Bears need to add something.

Buffalo over Raiders (4-1) — 28-17.

HANCOCK (28-15-5) — Miramonte over Las Lomas, 14-13; San Ramon over Piedmont, 20-13; Acalanes over Alhambra, 20-7; Pacifica over College Park, 14-7; Pleasant Hill over Clayton Valley, 13-7; DVC over Chabot, 19-13; Washington over Stanford, 23-15; Southern Cal over Cal, 21-14; Buffalo over Raiders, 33-21; Green Bay over 49ers, 27-21.

SMITH (30-13-5) — Miramonte over Las Lomas, 7-6; San Ramon over Piedmont, 13-7; Acalanes over Alhambra, 14-0; Pacifica over College Park, 15-0; Pleasant Hill over Clayton Valley, 14-13; DVC over Chabot, 14-7; Washington over Stanford, 28-12; Southern Cal over Cal, 21-8; Buffalo over Raiders, 21-10; Green Bay over 49ers, 31-27.

McCunn 'Sandbagged': Recall Meeting Speech

Robert Van Gelder, president of Taxpayers and Parents Association for better education, this week said he was "well pleased" with the group's town hall meeting Friday in Richmond.

During the meeting, called to inform the public of plans to recall Contra Costa Junior College District board members who voted last spring to fire Superintendent Dr. J. McCunn, speakers lashed out at the terming them a "private club" who had "sandbagged" McCunn.

Walter P. McGovern, a San Francisco businessman who specializes in researching the California Teachers Association, associated the CTA and the board members in his remarks, charging the former with "black listing" and "secret court" methods.

VAN GELDER told The Sun after the meeting that "we gave them a good report on the background of the McCunn case, and they listened attentively."

The background came largely from George M. Crocker, author and former law school dean, whom McCunn asked to review 11 textbooks required for social studies course 110-111.

McCunn felt, Crocker said, that the texts were oriented against "Americanism," and could cause the district to lose state aid monies.

Crocker said he found the books "loaded" and designed to break down the student's faith in himself and in existing institutions.

RICHARD HOFSTADER'S

"American Political Tradition" date." Crocker said the boardthe Richmond meeting "swelled

... brooding antagonism."

The entire list, Crocker said, is designed to make students believe the American system "wicked, ineffective, and out of President Van Gelder said recall petitions will be circulated in January in an attempt to remove the four board members. An influx of new members at our workers to well over 2000," Van Gelder said.

He said there are no association plans for major activity until the recall campaign in January.

Laf Frantics Gives Lottsa Laffs & Dough to Center

By MARIE MONAHAN

THINGS you'd never know if you didn't eavesdrop in the Town Hall foyer . . . That "Toss Lightly & Serve", the seventh-year serving of Laf Frantics laughter, brings to a total some $8,000 raised by the shows toward the Lafayette Community Center . . . that the annual helping of hilarity is presented, directed, played and written by local people with this year's most rewarding audience, the ninety-seven youngsters who claim parents in the cast.

SEVEN of those 97 children belong to the talented Petersons. Jack and Evelyn, show mainstays. A Bechtel Corporation engineer, he is director of the Toneslotter, a barber-shop bevy of harmonious fellows (one printer, five engineers, one attorney, etc.) who sing together throughout the year, much in the manner of Mitch's men.

Scribbles on the side of the playbill . . . More stalwarts, for 7 years, Jerri and Dick Burnside who originated the Laf Frantics idea and have been on stage for all productions. The versatile lady is dancer, singer, actress, comedienne, an artist by hobby who has sold many of her paintings . . . Writer of original music and lyrics for six of the shows, Fran Ferriter who looks like Broadway's Carol Haney or Carol Channing and is a show biz whiz with radio, concert bureaus to her credit, an associate of the San Francisco Theatrical Booking Agency.

MORE doodlings add the traditional show: EBMUD man Theron Nelson, LF's business manager for seven years, a rep of the Lafayette Community Center on LF's Pilot Committee . . . Pat Green, professional portrait artist and hubby Dan Green, a USC man . . . Local attorney Art Robson and wife Joan another "Cast couple" . . . Like-wise the Lunas, Melba & Charles, both stage veterans, he printing the clever programs in his "spare (?) time" . . . Standard Oil engineer Dick Smith and wife Jeanne, she never missing a summer-time rehearsal, totting along their 3-year old tyke who clapped for her Mom from the confines of a playpen . . . Stage manager Bud Lundquist, local insurance man, and his wife Dorothy, head nurse in Emergency at Merritt Hospital who never had to be prompted in her lines despite a 5-day work schedule.

THEN we doodled Dulings, for Amy and Bud who are current PTA presidential pair at Burton School. He's chief engineer with Calaveras Cement . . . Dottie Rhine, blond cast member, wetting her whistle intermission time, with hubby Milt Rhine, Lafayette Chamber Junior Chamber rep, who was in charge of Rathskeller refreshments downstairs for the shows.

MELODRAMA'S hero, Charles Berger, a three-year man, a member of the Toneslotter since their start . . . Dot Hughes procured all props for show, kept track of 'em, what's more, returned them to rightful owners . . . Shirley Anderson, mother of FIVE, sings for a hobby for ALL occasions . . . Jop Van Overveen, president of the Lafayette Community Center, another LF faithful, this year, on the Borscht circuit served intermittently throughout the show.

SECRETARIES Vivian Hicks, Mildred Grothman putting down their steno pencils and pads for active parts in the community romp . . . Betsey Young, a teacher of terpsichore at Palmer School, Walnut Creek, did ALL the choreography for show . . . Co-producer Evelyn Mc-Lean, nimble-fingered accompanist, is local piano teacher, her cohort in this creative conspiracy, Jack Holder, a distinguished Dramateurs member and teacher (at Martinez School) of Dramatics & Language.

The Combo gives credit for its 'Discovery' to a Burton PTA Fashion show and The Music Men consist of local insurance man Gabe Cabral, arranger and trumpet-tooter, Dick Fehr, leader and sax man, Jack King, guitar, Tom Helbush, drums, Howard Smith, clarinet, George Pennebaker, bass, the aforementioned Bud Duling, accordion, and Ev McLean, piano.

MORE FINGERS in the pie: Catherine Hassler, chief paint slinger ably assisted by Lillian Lees, Dorris Whipple; The Wellys who provided racks of costumes; Alice Willoughby who created costumes with Melba Luna; publicists Elaine Double, day and Betty Wise; Bill Dyer, special sound and effects magician with assistant Bill Ansel.

Smashed thumb complaints came from stage crew of Dot Hughes, Dave Allee, Richard James, Will Palmer, Barb and George Galla, Dean Rodgers; Wig, make-up and beard-o specialists were Morna Phillips and Jerri Pemberton; Dot Welsh and Ruth Pemberton squeezed cast into costumes; Loris Innis did monumental task as general ticket chairman; Nurseryman Jack Schneider and Community Center brought in the clever "captioned" advertising for playbill; Walt Moser, finance chairman paid the bills and Happy Valley Inn provided rehearsal space.

Some community endeavor, indeed, and from the fun evidenced by the cast, they're probably already well on their way to plotting "Laf Frantics '63".

Paintings on Display at St. Mary's

Paintings by the German-born Israeli artist Dan Hoffner went on exhibit in the St. Mary's College Library Wednesday.

Hoffner's exhibition will continue until November 19.

The display of 45 paintings, which has been featured at three other Bay Area Catholic colleges, marks the first showing of Hoffner's works in the United States.

Born in Leipzig, Germany, in 1920, Hoffner emigrated to Israel in 1936. Respected as a teacher, the artist has served as art instructor in the Ministry of Education and Culture in Israel.

Currently he is lecturing at the Teacher's College in Tel Aviv.

A student of the early moderns—especially Klee and Miro—Hoffner has developed his own technique to express man's relation to the universe.

A Garden Journeyman

For such a sizeable family of shrubs, the Euonymus family is remarkably little known by gardeners.

The California Association of Nurserymen points out that Euonymus is one of those garden journeyman which does everything well. They are not spectacular, but they help to firm up the garden picture, adding substance and character to the permanent framework.

YOU CAN have a handsome ground cover from one Euonymus; or an evergreen cover for your wall. You can train another Euonymus as a tree or shear it as a box-like hedge. From still another you get handsomely variegated foliage, which contrasts pleasantly with most evergreens around it. Still another rose-red in fall.

EVERGREEN EUONYMUS is the patriarch of the family. It is a tall, arching shrub, less spectacular than some of its more modern offspring, but durable enough to have held its own over the years.

Foliage is remarkable for its persistent greenery even when subjected to extremes of desert heat or seashore winds. It can be poured as a tree and will actually resemble one in time, but it is far more commonly found when sheared into a compact hedge.

Closely related to Evergreen Euonymus, most of them variegated sports, in fact, are the following:

GOLDEN EUONYMUS, an eye-catcher with deep green leaves margined with gold; Gold Spot Euonymus, a reverse of the previous one, with gold in the center and green on the margins of the leaves; Silver Queen Euonymus, a light complexioned beauty with creamy margins on light green leaves; Silver King or President Gauthier Euonymus, similar to the above, with deeper green leaves and white margins; Small Leaf or Box Leaf Euonymus, a compact little shrub with dark green foliage, excellent for low hedges. A variegated form of Small Leaf Euonymus is also available.

As if that weren't enough variety for one family, C.A.N. nurseries also offer one or another of the more prostrate forms. These may be used as ground covers in sun or shade and will blanket the garden wall or the wall of a house in a dense mat.

COMMON WINTERCREEPER is the most widely planted of these. It is an evergreen, vine-like shrub which will do anything Ivy does and holds wide appeal for those seeking an Ivy substitute. Its leaves are oval shaped and smaller than Ivy.

Perhaps the most interesting member of the family is the Dwarf Flame Euonymus, a deciduous variety, which has long been a favorite in the East and is now gaining friends in the West. It is an excellent dwarf shrub for the foundation, turning a fine scarlet or rosy color in fall. It's the kind of shrub that fits in unobtrusively among evergreen companions, then suddenly becomes a showpiece of color when weather turns cool. As with Japanese Barberry, one or two shrubs in the border foundation can really liven your autumn setting.

EUONYMUS is a rough and ready family, able to stand neglect and climatic extremes with no visible effects. They are better for a good soil, however, and the gardener should improve poor soils with steer manure and fertilizer before planting Euonymus.

Noise Costly

Doctors agree that a high level of noise causes fatigue. Because wood absorbs harsh noises it makes an ideal wall paneling in the home or office.

Garden CHECK-LIST ✓ PREPARED BY THE CALIFORNIA ASSOCIATION OF NURSERYMEN

1. Start cutting out poor performers in the rose garden and getting ready to plant new varieties in December.
2. Plant early flowering Sasanqua camellias now while they are coming into bloom.
3. Plant ranunculus and anemones along with other spring-blooming bulbs. Ranunculus are also available in seedling form.
4. Cool season vegetables such as peas, lettuce, cauliflower, cabbage and broccoli may be set out. Many are available as flat-grown seedlings in nurseries.
5. Plant cineraria for early spring color. The best time is now through November.

ALSO KNOWN as the Spindle Tree, the Euonymus can be a tree, a shrub or a vine depending on variety. The species shown here is the Golden Euonymus—a handsome shrub with dark green leaves edged with a bright gold margin. Inset photo shows you what to look for in a gallon container at your local California Association of Nurserymen headquarters.

Pansies and Violas Are Cool Weather Charmers

For pure, unrestrained charm, there's nothing in the garden world like pansies and violas. They have an old-fashioned "joie de vivre" which brightens the dreariest of days and makes all seem right with the world.

Perhaps the best thing about them is their liking for the cooler months of the year, which in California means that many of us enjoy their riot of color during the dead of winter. What nicer way to shorten that least attractive of garden seasons!

Pansies and violas are botanically both members of the viola family, which also includes such much loved favorites as violets and Johnny-jump-ups.

THE YOUNG plants should have as much of fall growing weather as possible to be at their best for cool season bloom. Members of the California Association of Nurserymen offer both in flats this month and they should be transplanted to your garden at your earliest chance.

You can plant them right through winter, of course. But later planted seedlings will probably not bloom profusely until spring draws near.

Successful winter culture with pansies and violas depends, as with other winter-blooming annuals, on preparing a proper seedbed—one in which special attention has been given to drainage. If plants are forced to stand in boggy soil after each winter rain, they will never live up to expectations.

RAISED BEDS are excellent locations for pansies and violas. So, too, are plant boxes and tubs, in which pansies and violas can be featured alone, or at the base of taller plants such as bulbs and shrubs. They are ideally planted over a bulb bed, also, forming an attractive base of color from which the bulbs push up their bloom. Try them this way with tulips and daffodils for special effects.

After drainage, the next most important requisite of the planting bed is a rich, loose soil. Work in plenty of steer manure and leaf mold before setting the plants out. Then work a spoonful of any well-balanced commercial fertilizer into the soil below each plant, being sure that the fertilizer itself does not come in contact with the plant's roots when you plant it.

Nature's Miracle

Nature's miracle substance has to be wood, one scientist exclaimed recently. No other natural material can do all the things that wood can do. It can be sawed, bored, nailed, turned, planed, painted, treated, stained, and it will not rust.

Need Help In Planning Room Arrangements?

We have many choices in buying furniture today. There are 4000 different furniture manufacturers.

Most families need to plan for purchases which will be made over a period of several years. The easiest way to find out your needs is to draw your room according to scale—one inch equals one foot.

The County Home Advisor will send you furniture cut-outs using the one inch to one foot scale so you can place your present furnishings in the room and decide on replacements or additions.

These furniture cut-outs include sofas, chairs, tables (dining, coffee, serving, end and arm tables), pianos, bookcases and lamps.

Various sizes are included which will take care of the most common furniture sizes in use. Ask for a copy of furniture cut-outs by writing to Home Advisor, P.O. Box 390, Pittsburg.

Bench for Deck

When you design a wood deck, add built-in benches to serve as the railing. Slant the bench back slightly and add tie-on cushions for real lounging comfort. Use Douglas fir lumber for benches as well as deck.

Fuss Over Food Fads Is Folly

A fad, according to the definition in the dictionary, is a crotchety notion, pet project or a craze.

The definition does not say whether fads are good or bad.

For example, a pet project to drink fruit juices instead of soft beverages would promote better health. More often the implication of a fad is that of a craze or out-of-the-ordinary notion. Food fads need careful evaluation.

So much is now known about the relation of food to health that there is no longer any need to follow old wives' tales or superstitions.

Recently, Dr. Charles Glen King, president of the Nutrition Foundation, Inc., said: "Within the past four decades more reliable information has been discovered about food production, food consumption and the function of food in conserving health than has been established in all previous history."

"Food is our most economical way to get all the nutrients we need. If for some reason vitamin supplements are needed, your physician will prescribe for your special needs," according to the county home advisor.

Outdoor Living Is Part of California

California means outdoor living. And home landscaping is a major part of outdoor living.

Trees and shrubs must be planted, and walks and driveways laid. Other changes, too, must be made to make the home grounds useful, convenient and beautiful.

TO TEACH landscaping for homeowners, the Pennsylvania State University offers a correspondence course "Landscape Planning for Small Properties."

Lessons begin with discussions of communities and neighborhoods. Selection of building sites are considered. Level ground is compared to slopes for living purposes. Tips on grading and draining soil are presented. Layouts of walks, drives and steps are given, and there is advice on how to select and properly place trees and shrubs.

ANYONE CAN enroll by writing to Correspondence Courses, 202 Agricultural Education Building, University Park, Pennsylvania. Simply give your name and address and include $3.75. Make checks payable to the Pennsylvania State University.

Sun Home and Garden Lumber Takes New Look As Science Takes Charge

Imagine buying lumber in bright colored wrappers like oversized packages of chewing gum.

That isn't as strange as it might seem. Packaged lumber, being marketed today ranges all the way from house siding to 200-foot-long glue laminated beams. Bright-colored wrappings on glu-lam beams requiring three freight cars to haul can be seen any day on the railroads.

AS THE nation gets ready to salute the tree on National Forest Products Week, October 21-27, it is well to take a look at all the new and interesting things that are happening to lumber before it is sold to the customer.

More and more lumber manufacturers are wrapping finish lumber in heavy paper to protect the smooth surfaces from the grime and scratches until it is actually put in place.

The packaging trend goes hand in hand with the push into pre-fabricating, pre-cutting and pre-finishing, and new patterns being designed for homes, churches, schools and commercial structures of today.

PRE-PRIMING of lumber, particularly cedar siding, has been gaining rapidly. In the West Coast region alone, some 25 plants have installed pre-finishing equipment.

The primer coat of paint is baked on in infra-red ovens at some mills, and the siding is sealed against moisture on the back side and edges as well as the facing.

In the completed dwelling, only the final coat of paint is needed, and this can await the most favorable weather.

You've now been using atomic electricity for five years!

October 24th will mark the 5th anniversary of the Vallecitos Atomic Power Plant... America's first AEC-licensed nuclear generating station. This year, PG&E will complete a second atomic power plant at Eureka—twelve times larger than Vallecitos. And we're planning a third, still larger plant at Bodega Bay. Pioneering research and development in atomic-electricity is another way we work to provide plenty of PG&E service at low cost. Of course you've added many new appliances over the years, so your bill is bigger nowadays. But did you know the price of PG&E gas and electricity is 8% less than thirty years ago?

Third Largest Walnut Harvest

Proposed control percentages for the Pacific Coast 1962 walnut crop were announced Tuesday by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Under the proposal, 7 per cent of the walnut supply in California and 3.5 per cent in Oregon and Washington would be diverted from normal markets to surplus outlets.

The proposed percentages were recommended by the Walnut Control Board, industry group which administers Federal Market Agreement Program on walnuts grown in California, Oregon, and Washington.

The 1962 walnut crop is estimated at 170.4 million pounds, the third largest on record.

The proposed allocation provides for an estimated trade demand of 70 million pounds for inshell walnuts and 33 million pounds for shelled walnuts.

Interested persons are invited to submit written comments on the proposal for receipt by the director.

Culvert Work Almost Complete At Broadway

The violent rain and wind storm which struck Walnut Creek will do no damage to the Las Trampas Creek culverting in Broadway Shopping Center. And, experts estimate, existence of the culvert is preventing a great deal of damage to the creek bed and banks.

Structurally, the culverting which runs under South Main Street and connects with a completed culvert beneath Capwell's is "just about finished," according to Mrs. Edith Apgar of McDonald Products Company, developers of the Broadway Center.

"Heavy rains probably will not damage the basic structure of the culvert," Mrs. Apgar said this week.

"And, rain or not, we plan to have the project ready for temporary paving by Christmas," she added.

Open sections of the project will be paved for parking areas during the holiday season. After the first of the year, Mrs. Apgar said, work will begin on double-deck parking facilities and "some new buildings" above the culvert.

She said she could not disclose any details on the number, size or design of additions to the center, already one of the largest in Northern California. Nor could she reveal the names of potential tenants.

Workers are now completing backfilling on the project.

The culvert, which narrows from a maximum width of approximately 30 feet, is roughly 500 feet long.

Big Broadway Bang Up Birthday Sale Ends Soon

Broadway's bang-up 11th birthday sale ends Saturday, according to Broadway Merchants Association Chairman B. K. Horne.

Horne said the response to the celebration has been "fantastic," and added that Broadway stores had succeeded in restocking rapidly enough to keep up with shopper demands.

"But the sale isn't over yet," Horne said this week.

"We invite all our friends to partake of the many wonderful values still being offered by Broadway stores."

"Broadway's famous stores are known not only for specials," he said, "but for timely and fashionable merchandise as well."

"At this time, we want to thank the thousands upon thousands of Broadway customers who have made Broadway the outstanding and largest shopping center in the East Bay, and one of the largest in California," he continued.

"Don't forget," he urged, "that all of our special offers still stand. Silver dollars are still available for 89 cents, red hot specials will be offered daily, and we have made our quality merchandise available in large quantities."

"Remember too," he concluded, "that Broadway stores will remain open three nights each week, Monday, Thursday and Friday."

Taxpayers Elect Slagle President

Incumbent officers of the Contra Costa County Taxpayers' Association, headed by E. L. Slagle of Danville as president, have been re-elected for an additional one-year term, it was announced recently.

Ed J. J. McKeegan of Richmond was returned as vice-president and Ben Goldberger of Pittsburg was re-elected as treasurer. Paul F. Hughey of Berkeley was elected secretary.

Association members who were elected as directors for a three-year term include: W. G. Buchanan, Pittsburg; G. W. Lindsey, Concord; Dana Murdoch, Lafayette; Donald Joost, Walnut Creek; Mark Shepard, Orinda; and Ben Goldberger, Pittsburg.

Slagle said that he was "particularly pleased" that association members had seen fit to re-elect him for an additional year.

The group will emphasize its goal of "governmental economy consistent with efficiency," the president said.

"I am confident that the association can exert a strong influence on behalf of good government in the county," he added.

Ladies--Dress Course Offered

Local ladies needn't buy clothing haphazardly.

They can "Dress by Design," as the title of a short course starting next Wednesday indicates.

The four-week course will be given at Orinda branch county library by Mary R. Williams, University of California home advisor.

Interested persons should contact Mrs. Williams at P.O. Box 390, Pittsburg.

Local sponsors for the course, which is open to all, are the Mesdames William Kooreman, Owen Jones and Douglas Killingworth of Orinda, and Mrs. C. R. Crouch of Lafayette.

County Planners Approve Drive-in

A drive-in restaurant on Highway 21 at Las Trampas Road in Alamo was approved Tuesday night by the Contra Costa County Planning Commission.

The decision reversed a previous ruling by the county board of adjustment which denied the application of A. Cicero and T. Sanguinetti during a hearing July 18. At that time some 60 neighboring residents appeared to protest the proposal.

Final action on the commission recommendation, passed by a 5-2 vote, will be forwarded to the County Board of Supervisors.

COMMISSIONERS set October 23 to review a proposal for reducing minimum lot sizes in an area of Lafayette from half-acre to one-third acre.

Area in question is bounded by St. Mary's Road, Birdhaven Gardens, Lafayette Oaks and Las Huertas, Schelling and Phillips Roads.

Silver Dollars Offered Only Four More Days

"I can't believe it, but here it is." The shopper pointed to the shiny silver dollar in his hand—and then to the 89 cents he had just paid for it.

"It's just like the rest of the values here," he said. "Unbelievable but true."

B. K. Horne, chairman of the Broadway birthday party which ends Saturday, proudly related these remarks this week.

"We've exchanged thousands of silver dollars for 89 cents during our big celebration," Horne said, "and shoppers still can't believe it."

Earlier this week the run on silver dollars by Broadway shoppers gave merchants cause for alarm.

Not that they wanted to stop giving them out . . . far from it. They had simply run out of silver.

An emergency phone call and a quick plane flight to Harrah's Club at Lake Tahoe saved the day, however.

Broadway Merchants' representative Charles Ray brought home a "mountain" of the shining wheels.

They are available at the following times and places:

WEDNESDAY, October 17: 11 a.m., Mr. G.; 2 p.m., Dr. Stollar; 3 p.m., The Fashion.

THURSDAY, October 18: 11 a.m., Anita; 2 p.m., Smiths; 3 p.m., Klad-ee; 7 p.m., Goldmans; 8 p.m., Singer Sewing Machine Co.

FRIDAY, October 19: 11 a.m., Elsie's; 2 p.m., Senior Junior Boot Shop; 3 p.m., Grodins; 7 p.m., Music Town TV; 8 p.m., J. C. Penney Co.

SATURDAY, October 20: 11 a.m., J. Magnin; 2 p.m., Capwell's; 3 p.m., Sears.

Health Dept. Issues Rabies Peril Warning

Because of the danger of rabies, parents and children living in the Orinda-Lafayette-Danville areas of Contra Costa County are again warned not to handle or have any direct contact with any sick or dead wild animal of unknown origin, especially skunks, John Baier, M.D., assistant county health officer, announced today.

"Anyone who has been bitten by an animal should see his physician and report the bite to the nearest county animal control center," Dr. Baier concluded.

Broadway Stores Open Three Nights of Week

Remember, most Broadway stores are open three nights of the week, Monday, Thursday and Friday.

This reminder comes from B. K. Horne, chairman of the Broadway Merchants Association, now holding its big 11th Birthday Celebration.

"Broadway merchants realize that evening shopping is easier for some families," Horne said today.

"Merchants want to make sure that no one misses an opportunity to see the tremendous values which will be offered during big birthday bang-up sales," he said.

Taxpayer's Exec Secretary

Paul F. Hughey has been elected executive secretary of the Contra Costa Taxpayers' Association, according to association president E. L. Slagle.

The former management consultant replaces Harry L. Morrison of Walnut Creek who resigned after 11 years to devote his time to other interests.

Morrison was elected to a three-year term on the group's board of directors, Slagle said. A graduate of the University of California at Berkeley, Hughey served with the Navy during World War II.

Following his discharge he held an industrial relations position with Military Sea Transport Service in San Francisco.

He was later employed by the Henry J. Kaiser Company in Oakland and Louisiana.

Four New Instructors At Colleges

Four new instructors have joined the Contra Costa Junior College District.

Three have been assigned to Contra Costa College in San Pablo and the fourth to Diablo Valley College, Concord.

The three CCC instructors are Stanley G. Barnickel, of 977 Thompson Road, Lafayette, who will teach psychology and serve as a counselor; Mrs. Irene M. Fisher of Tracy, cosmetology; and Don D. Lane, of San Leandro, social science.

The Diablo Valley College assignment went to Kendal H. Green, of 3331 Woodhaven Lane, Concord, who will teach engineering. Green, who holds a Bachelor of Science Degree in mechanical engineering from Stanford University, and a Master of Science in mathematics from San Jose State, has been a research scientist at the Ames Research Center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at Moffett Field since 1956.

Wawona Has Migrants Are Membership Helped by Annual Tea Church Group

Wawona Guild of the Women's Auxiliary to John Muir Memorial Hospital held their annual membership tea yesterday at the home of its president, Mrs. Herb A. Rowley, Acorn Court, Walnut Creek.

Prospective members were introduced to the membership and told of the purpose and activities of the guild. Wawona is one of the 12 guilds that make up the Women's Auxiliary to John Muir Memorial Hospital. In the three and one-half years since the auxiliary was organized, the guilds have played a major role in making a hospital that was a dream into a reality. Financial arrangements for the new hospital have been completed and construction will begin in March on Ignacio Valley Boulevard, Walnut Creek.

Co-ordinating chairman of the tea was Mrs. Keith Fitch. She was assisted by the Meses. Harry Aho, food, and Raymond Henson, invitations. Mrs. James Roessler took pictures of the gathering.

Hostess duties were assumed by guild officers: Mmes Rowley, Henson, John Kilbuck, Helmuth Tamberg, Wallace Kanes, Jay L. Robey.

United Church Women of the central county gave a "Fellowship Tea" to benefit migrant workers recently at Episcopal Pleasant Hill.

Mrs. A. F. Holden of Lafayette, president, announced that migrants have been a concern of U.C.W. for many years. The group has provided layettes through the county health department.

Tea committees under the direction of Mrs. Robert S. Love of Lafayette were: Mrs. C. Eugene Sill of Walnut Creek, Christian World Missions department chairman; Mrs. B. P. James and Mrs. Charles Crawford of Walnut Creek, refreshments; Mrs. Leonard Gilmore of Lafayette, invitations; Mrs. Kenneth C. Heiges and Mrs. Allyn D. Briggs of Pleasant Hill, program; Mrs. Richard Kistler of Pleasant Hill, offering; Mrs. Don Backlund of Pleasant Hill, nursery care; Mrs. J. F. Sponseller of Lafayette, publicity.

Refreshments were donated by Pleasant Hill churches.

In all moral revolutions, from a lower to a higher condition of thought and action, truth is in the minority and error has the majority.—Mary Baker Eddy.

PHIL TEMPLE, manager of Woolworth's in the Broadway Shopping Center, notes the constant flow of silver dollars from the silver dollar booth. Dollars are on sale for 89 cents for the balance of the week.

Linnet Unit Has Meeting St. Perpetua Guild Meets

New members, paint, finances, shop merchandise and plans for a joint meeting with the Junior Linnets shared the agenda at the recent business meeting of the Linnet unit of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center.

Mrs. L. A. Ziegler, first vice-president, filled in for the president, Mrs. Jason Marden, who is vacationing in the Orient.

She introduced three new members, Mesdames Irving Fine, Albert Leaver and F. R. Rippingham.

Monthly shop chairmen, Mrs. Melvin Bolender and Mrs. Arthur Larson, announced that the next special at the Therapy Thrift Shop will be an assortment of a nationally known paint.

There will be a variety of kinds and colors in limited quantities, in both quart and gallon size containers, for sale at half the original retail price.

Mrs. Irving Kraemer, unit treasurer, told the membership that a substantial check had been sent to the center, last month.

Hostess, Mrs. W. F. Ames, was assisted by Mrs. Edward Larmer and Mrs. W. L. De-nault. November hostesses will be Mrs. Paul Lawrence and Mrs. Irving Kraemer.

Two Orinda Women Attend GOP Confab

Mrs. Donald Krotz, president, northern division of California Federation of Republican Women, and Mrs. William R. Dorsey, president of the Orinda Republican Women's Club attended the National Federation of Republican Women's convention recently in Phoenix, Arizona.

St. Perpetua's Guild met recently in the parish hall. Mrs. Maurice Martinez presided.

Mrs. James McComb, librarian, announced that the Christmas wrap had arrived and was available. Proceeds will defray the expenses of the library. Twenty-five new books are being purchased and can be obtained free from the library after the masses on Sunday.

Vice president, Mrs. Howard DeFerrari announced that a representative of the Elizabeth Arden cosmetic firm will be a guest at a luncheon to be held at the parish hall on October 25.

The guild, under the direction of Mrs. Lyman Lee, is compiling a cook book. Members are asked to submit their favorite recipes.

Carole Ruth Osorio Is Now Mrs. Don McPherson

The former Carole Ruth Osorio became Mrs. Donald M. McPherson at the Orinda home of her parents recently. The Clark Edward Ruckers' hill-top home provided an ideal site for the afternoon garden ceremony.

Carole and Don stood beneath a white canopy to recite their vows before the Rev. Chauncey Blossom, of Orinda Community Church.

White wedding bells and an ivy-covered trellis dotted with pink flowers were among the decor. Pink-flowered topiary trees lined the turf, which served as a center aisle.

Given in marriage by her father, Carole wore a street length, white organdy dress with moss green velvet cummerbund, and matching shoes. Her white circlet chapeau was trimmed with the green velvet. She carried an orchid spray.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Ronald J. Benson of Danville. James McPherson was best man for his brother.

In the receiving line with the newlyweds and the Ruckers were the groom's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Mahlon D. McPherson of Santa Cruz.

After champagne toasts to the young McPhersons a buffet luncheon was served.

Both Carole and John are graduates of San Jose State. Her sorority is Kappa Kappa Gamma. His fraternity is Theta Chi.

After a honeymoon cruise to the Islands, the McPhersons are now at home in Santa Cruz. He is co-owner and advertising manager of the Santa Cruz Sentinel.

United Nations Holiday Coming Has First Meet

United Nations Holiday, a fashion show-luncheon by Jasmine and Muir branches of Children's Hospital of the East Bay, will be at Diablo Country Club Thursday.

The colorful show will feature fashions from abroad as well as American creations and furs.

The Country Girl, La Femme and Irene Theiss of Walnut Creek are showing the fashions.

Decor will carry out the United Nations theme. Eight foot flags of 48 member nations will cover the wall of the club.

Council for UN

The Richard Lommel home on Lakewood Road was the setting of the first social meeting of the fall season for the Diablo Council of the American Association for the United Nations when members and guests gathered there Lafayette women attended the new Lafayette Homemakers' Club at the home of Mrs. Roy Yourstone, 1049 Via Nueva, in Upper Happy Valley, recently.

"Creative Meals for Everyone" was presented by Mrs. Mary R. Williams, home advisor of the University of California Agriculture Extension Service in Contra Costa County.

Each meeting covered a different phase of homemaking. Among subjects to be presented will be wardrobe planning, new ideas in home decorating, planning family finances, Christmas decorations, etc.

For further information, call Mrs. Donald Faries, 934-5591, or Mrs. Roy Yourstone, 283-2407.

Revolutions are not about trifles, but spring from trifles.—Aristotle.

Safety Councils Endorse Transit

Increased safety through rapid, efficient transit systems is foreseen by San Francisco and East Bay chapters of the National Safety Council who endorsed the $792 million Proposition "A" this week. Safety records of existing transit systems are "extremely good" compared to those of other forms of transportation, according to Dr. Ferdinand W. Callison, president of the San Francisco chapter.

Collins Show Set At Broadway

Collins, scheduled to appear last weekend, was delayed, and no area resident needs to be told why.

"It's not that I'm afraid of a little water," Collins told The Sun this week.

"I'm a regular duck, in fact. But that mud, my man, is another story."

No, he responded to our question, "the beard does not shrink in inclement weather."

Collins will appear in front of Lucky Foods in Broadway Plaza in a solo performance.

Cub Pack 230 Entertains Parents at Fall Meeting

A preview of things to come at the fall meeting of the Cub Scout Pack 230's opening meeting of the fall season held recently at Pleasant Hill Elementary School.

Highlighting the Cub's theme of the month "2000 A.D.," Den 3 presented an original skit showing a typical breakfast scene of the future. Den 1 followed with an animated chorus of mechanical robots.

Women Voters Discuss Issues

All 25 of the state propositions on the November ballot are being discussed by the speakers' bureau of the Concord - Diablo Valley League of Women voters.

The league's Mrs. T. P. Warford announced she has accepted 32 invitations from organizations throughout the county on behalf of the 10 members of the speakers' bureau.

The bureau includes Mmes. C. W. Funk of Danville, John D. Kinney of Alamo, Walter Schamel, C. D. Adams and Edmond J. Pinney of Orinda.

Others are Mmes. Peter Ganyard and John Selley of Walnut Creek, Norman Golds of Pleasant Hill, and Allie Norton and Claire Becker of Concord.

The group also sponsors a series of broadcasts on the propositions, heard at 9:30 a.m. Saturdays on KWUN.

EYE SHADE

If you have south or west exposed rooms which pick up a lot of summer heat, try building a simple solid frame of 2x4 Douglas fir set on 4x4 posts with simple 1x4 louvers spaced a foot apart. This gives an eye shade effect, will cool off the windows and provide filtered shade.

Newspapers Abound in This County

Contra Costa County has more newspapers than any other county in California with the exception of Los Angeles, according to statistics gleaned from the second annual Contra Costa Newspaper and Radio Guide issued by the Contra Costa Junior College District.

Distribution of the 1962-63 guide is being made in conjunction with National Newspaper Week, this week.

The new directory lists 36 newspapers and three radio stations published and located within the county, plus four metropolitan dailies which were included because of their large distribution in Contra Costa.

An interesting note is that of the county's 36 publications, 24 are multiple-ownership papers by eight publishers.

Total newspaper circulation is listed at 249,281, minus circulation figures which were not provided by several small weeklies and special interest papers.

Shopping news circulation stands at 327,882, a figure that involves considerable duplication.

In the last year the county lost one weekly, the Orinda-Moraga Record, but gained three other weekly publications. The Citizen in Pinole, The San Pablo Democrat in San Pablo, and the Village Pioneer published in Danville but serving the new San Ramon Village subdivision development straddling the southern Contra Costa-Alameda County line.

The directory, published for the first time last year, is the only complete listing of its kind.

Copies are available from the Junior College District offices in Martinez for $1 each.

Workshop Features Student Pianists

The Contra Costa branch of the Music Teachers Association of California presented a student workshop and recital Sunday at Stanley School Auditorium in Lafayette.

Children from the studios of Mary Louis Lovell, Madalene Caruso, Itala Gambino, Virginia Daniels and Peg Winters played piano selections in the workshop, at 2 p.m.

A student recital, at 3:30 p.m. featured intermediate and advanced pianists from the studios of Rosalyn Polycove.

Libraries Honor Press With Exhibits

The Contra Costa News of February 12, 1896, featuring the newly completed Martinez Free Reading Room and Library Association Building, is the center of a display in the exhibit case in the lobby of the Central Pleasant Hill Library.

In honor of Newspaper Week, October 14-20, the Contra Costa County Library, with all those who rely on the newspaper for information, salutes the press of Contra Costa County.

James E. Bryan, president of paper.

The American Library Association, said, "We welcome this opportunity to honor newspapers for their role of informing the public which helps our citizens serve the nation in a more intelligent and responsible manner."

Books in the county library collection about the newspaper business include Charlotte Paul's amusing "Minding Our Own Business" (and its sequel "And Four to Grow") on the trials of running a small-town newspaper.

"Editing the Day's News," by George Bastian and Leland Case; "But We Were Born Free," by Elmer Davis; "One Day in the World's Press," by Wilbur L. Schramm.

"Reflections of an Angry Middle-Aged Editor," by James A. Wechsler.

Erwin D. Canham's "Commitment to Freedom" tells the story of the Christian Science Monitor. "Don't Let Them Scare You" is a biography of Elmer Davis by Roger Burlingame.

"O Rare Don Marquis" is a tribute by Edward Anthony to the late author of archy and mehitabel. P. D. East's "Magnolia Jungle" is the autobiography of the life, times and education of a southern editor.

And there is the just published collection from the columns of Bill Vaughan of the Kansas City Star, entitled "Bird Thou Never Wert."

These books are only a few of the titles on journalism to be found on the shelves of the Central Pleasant Hill Library and the 21 branch and station libraries and two bookmobiles in the county library system.

State Expands Mental Health, Bogner Named

Max Bogner is the community organization specialist of the State Department of Mental Health for Contra Costa County.

Bogner is part of an expanded state-wide staff who will strengthen the department's emphasis on local mental health services, according to Dr. Daniel Blain, director of the state agency.

Bogner, whose office serves six counties in addition to Contra Costa, has been in social work for 27 years.

He joined the department in 1949 as senior psychiatric social worker at the Los Angeles Mental Hygiene Clinic.

From 1950 to his current assignment, Bogner was in charge of the Oakland district office of the department's bureau of social work.

A Berkeley resident, Bogner serves his district from an office at 1111 Jackson Street, Room 6020, Oakland.

The staff will serve both as liaison between the department and local private and public agencies, and as consultants to local agencies in development and broader utilization of community resources and services for both the emotionally disturbed and mentally retarded.

Through locally developed programs in health, welfare, mental health, educational and other services, the need for state hospitalization could be averted in a significant number of cases, Dr. Blain said.

In assisting with further development of the Short-Doyle Act for community mental health services, the community organization specialists will work on behalf of patients, former patients or potential patients who—without such local programs—would be headed for a state hospital.

A primary objective of the staff will be development of alternatives to hospitalization for mentally retarded.

According to Nathan Sloate, recently appointed assistant deputy for community mental health services and director of the community organization effort, the need for local programs for the retarded is "imperative in California."

Homecoming Features Four Preps

The popular vocal group, "The Four Preps", will open the festivities of Homecoming Week at Diablo Valley College October 29. The two-hour performance will begin at 8:30 p.m. in the college gym.

This presentation is open to the general public with an admission charge of $2.

All high school students with student activity cards will be admitted for $1.

Diablo Valley College students will be admitted free with student activity cards.

The prep program will be the first of six days of activities presented at the yearly Homecoming Week at Diablo Valley.

The homecoming football game against Contra Costa College at the Pleasant Hill High School field on November 3 will conclude the festivities.

Dates Changed For Drenched Guys and Dolls

Due to popular demand, and unpopular flooding, Contra Costa Musical Theatre announces that "Guys & Dolls", a musical fable by Frank Loesser, has been held over for repeat performances tonight and tomorrow at Mt. Diablo High School Auditorium, Concord.

Curtain is at 8:30 p.m. Due to the flood, the performance scheduled for October 13 was postponed and persons holding tickets for that night will be admitted tomorrow.

Tickets are still available for tonight, and may be purchased at Brown's Music in Concord, Reilly's Music in Walnut Creek, or by calling Ann Noble.

Baldwin Will Report to Constituents

John Baldwin will report to his constituents Monday at 8 p.m. Baldwin will appear in the lower hall of the Veterans Memorial Building, 1250 Locust Street, Walnut Creek.

As representative of the Sixth Congressional District of California, Mr. Baldwin will review the major items of legislation considered by the Congress and will present his viewpoints on them.

After completing his comments, Congressman Baldwin will answer questions from the floor.

Sponsoring the meeting is the Citizen's Committee for the Election of John Baldwin to Congress. This group consists of Bart Farrell, chairman, 2850 San Carlos Drive, Walnut Creek; Arnold Birmingham, 50 San Pedro Court, Walnut Creek; Douglas Carey, 2869 San Carlos Drive, Walnut Creek.

Wayne Dennis, 1573 Manchester Court, Concord; Judi Hunter, 48 Rider Court, Walnut Creek; Dellmar Schmall, 24 San Carlos Court, Walnut Creek.

Robert Tharrat, 49 Virginia Court, Walnut Creek, and Dorothy Winslow, 1681 Lilac Drive, Walnut Creek.

The Citizen's Committee said that among the topics Mr. Baldwin will discuss are the "feelings of Congress with respect to the situation in Cuba," the recent bond issue for the United Nations and his bill to ban the levying of poll taxes in federal elections.

Four Win 4-H All Star Honors

County 4-H All Stars chosen in competition Saturday are Trudine Mazzaika of Lafayette, John Thomson of Concord, Christine Sullenger of Martinez, and Mike Giles of Walnut Creek.

The four winners were presented with all star sweaters by Daisy Foard of the County Farm Bureau Women at ceremonies in the Antioch High School auditorium. The all stars, chosen from a field of 14, will provide leadership at local 4-H functions throughout the year.

Dental Hygiene Program Opening At DV College

The first program to be conducted in California in any school other than a four-year university for the training of dental hygienists has opened at Diablo Valley College after more than six years of discussion and planning.

Originally proposed in 1955 by the Contra Costa Dental Society, the two-year course is being sponsored jointly by the governing board of the Contra Costa Junior College District and the board of regents of the University of California.

The latter sponsorship meets a requirement of state law that such programs can only be conducted under the supervision of a dental college.

In Practice U.C.'s School of Dentistry will be responsible for all clinical instruction, and such instruction will be offered as U.C. extension courses.

DVC's first class consists of 15 girls handpicked from a list of 70 applicants, and all are well above the average student academically.

Their studies will run for five semesters, including one summer session, and will cover such areas as dental anatomy, chemistry, nutrition, anesthesiology, bacteriology, radiographic techniques, periodontics, and pharmacology.

Clinical work, under the guidance of a full-time dentist, will start in the summer session of 1963.

ALL INSTRUCTION will be on the DVC campus, utilizing existing laboratory facilities, supplemented by necessary special equipment.

As an indication of the standards that have been set—and that this is no "snap" for the student—20 of the 24 courses in the DVC program require more than 100 hours of study than is recommended by the American Dental Association.

In many respects it is a tougher program than that offered at U.C., a distinctive difference being that university students must have two years of lower division work before being admitted to the DVC program. At DVC students must combine the two in their first two years.

Students, upon graduation, are awarded an associate in arts degree and a certificate of achievement, and are eligible to take a state licensing examination. Once licensed, they will not want for placement.

It is estimated that the dental profession needs 850 graduates a year, but in 1961, for example, the three universities in California offering such a program graduated only 74.

The anticipated deficit of hygienists is expected to hit 4000 in the western states alone by 1975.

For the uninitiated, a dental hygienist is on a higher professional plane than other auxiliary workers in a dentist's office inasmuch as she is licensed and can and does treat patients.

Dr. Lee R. Winters of Concord, chairman of DVC's advisory committee, who devoted hundreds of hours of work to developing the new program, described it as "unique in California inasmuch as DVC is the first junior college in the state to offer it. Its graduates will help fill a pressing need in the profession."

OTHER COMMITTEE members include Drs. Edward Briscoe and William Smith of Richmond, Dr. Norman Betague of Walnut Creek, Dr. George Muller of Antioch, Dr. Burton Press of Pittsburg, and Dr. Jack Shaw of Pleasant Hill.

George R. Gordon, president of the CCJCD governing board, described himself as "proud of the caliber of this program and the long hours of work put into it by the DVC administrative staff, the dental society and advisory committee, and the University of California."

"This has been a real contribution to the Contra Costa community," he said.

Dr. Willard D. Fleming, dean of U.C.'s School of Dentistry and associate director of the university's San Francisco Medical Center, who had an important hand in the DVC program, described it as an "important step toward meeting a great shortage of dental hygienists."

WHILE FOUR years of university and a bachelor of science degree is highly desirable for women planning to teach or go into hospitals or clinics, Dr. Fleming said, he could see no necessity for such intensive training for a girl planning to enter private practice.

And the greatest need for dental hygienists is in private practice and outside of metropolitan areas.

Tillich's Views Are Subject Of Lectures Here

Three lectures on "Tillich's Religious Perspective on Culture" will be given by Dr. Robert Kimball, for the next three Sundays, at the Red Cross Building, 2121 Ygnacio Valley Road, Walnut Creek.

The series, sponsored by the Mt. Diablo Unitarian Church, starts this Sunday with a lecture entitled "The Religious Dimension of Culture."

On October 28, Dr. Kimball will speak on "Jesus, Who is Some Call Christ." The series concludes with "Conversations with Einstein and Freud" on November 4.

Dr. Kimball is an ordained minister in both the Congregational and Unitarian denominations.

He was an assistant to Tillich, an outstanding theologian of our time, and is presently an assistant professor of theology at Starr King School for the Ministry.

In 1959-60 he lectured on religion and mental health at Harvard Divinity School.

Dr. Kimball is also a consultant with a "working group of psychologists" who are interested in the relation of their discipline to religion.

Tickets for the series will be $2 a couple, and $1.50 for one person.

Eye Tests Planned For 12,000 Kids

Over 12,000 Contra Costa County students will be given eye tests in 22 school districts this fall and winter. First graders, transfer students and students suspected of having eye defects will be tested, the County Department of Education announced this week. For the fourth consecutive year the modified clinical technique is being used to comply with the state law that requires the schools to test children's eyes before they leave the primary grades. The technique, developed in Contra Costa County, is now described in some college textbooks and is coming into use in schools elsewhere in the United States. Cost this year is again 55 cents per pupil, which covers the actual expense and contributes to a fund for renewing equipment as needed, the department said. The tests were administered to 12,529 children in 1961-62, of whom 1947 were referred for an eye examination. Of the cases reported back, the referrals were 98 per cent correct.
